GIVES VIEWS ON U.S. DEFENSE POLICY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—General Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University, told a Senate Appropriations committee that excessive expenditures for arms would hurt the national economy and would be playing into the hands of the enemy. He added that the nation is taking chances by under-spending for the Air Force. anti-sub warfare and Alaskan defenses.

Gen. Eisenhower Gives His Ideas On Defense Budget

By DARRELL GORWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 30. — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's criticism of military economies may force a Senate revision of the administration's $13,000,000,000 defense budget.

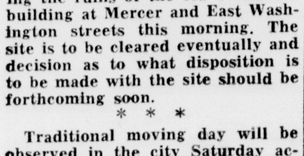

Members of the Senate Appropriations committee agreed today that if the group's study of Defense Secretary Johnson's budget plans bear out the views of Eisenhower, Congress is likely to exceed the recommendations of the Defense department.

The Columbia university president, former supreme commander in Europe, suggested possible expenditure of about 500,000,000 dollars to give the air force 48 modern combat groups and to provide more adequate Alaskan defenses.

Other Points

The other three points on which Eisenhower told the committee he

It is not often that folks here can have winter and summer during the same week. The mercury was down to 21 degrees with a light skift of snow on the ground, while three days ago it hit the phenomenal mark of 81 degrees. Such are the vagaries of spring, however.

Urges President To Sign New Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—Chairman Cooley (D) N. C., of the House agriculture committee, today urged President Truman to sign the new farm bill "promptly".

Cooley's move came in the face of rumors of a possible presidential veto of the controversial measure passed by Congress last week.

The bill increases acreage allotments for cotton and peanuts and tightens curbs on price supports for potatoes.

Acheson Heard On Point 4 Of Truman Plan

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—Secretary of State Acheson testified that the question before the United States now is whether the fight for democracy "will be going our way 10 years from now."

He made the statement in testifying before the senate foreign relations committee in support of President Truman's "point four" program for technical aid to underdeveloped areas abroad.

Acheson warned that the point four program would be a "long term business". He said some of its results may show up in a year but it might take five or ten years or even longer in some places to produce tangible benefits. He conitnued:

"Well, ten years is a minute in the life of a nation. The fight for freedom and democracy has been going on for more than 2,000 years. It will not be won in a decade.

"The question that concerns us is whether it will be going our way ten years from now."

"Security" Measure

Acheson said the program for sharing technical know-how is a "security" measure because "our military and economic security is vitally dependent on the economic security of other people."

The point four program is included in the omnibus foreign aid bill now before the house.

Acheson said there is a mistaken impression that "we are going to build large mills, mines and factories abroad under the point four program.

He declared this is not true. In most cases, he said, the United States will be helping foreign peo-

REMOVE TREES

Parks Director Joseph F. Medure today ordered Owen Fox, city forester, to make a survey of all trees adjacent to public highways which are dangerous.

Yesterday Mr. Fox, employes of his bureau and Pennsylvania Power company tree removers, took down three trees at Sampson and Grant streets which were found in a dangerous condition.

Old Man Winter Still Holding On

(By International News Service)

Old Man Winter still held a frigid grip on the weather today.

Despite attempts of spring to make its official arrival an actual thing, the weatherman said temperatures in the mid-30s would prevail today, with the mercury dropping to between 5 and 30 tonight.

He said tomorrow would be fair and milder.

Further Cuts In Foreign Aid Bill Looming

Administration Has Hard Battle Ahead On Fund Program

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—House leaders sent out a rush call for absentees today in an effort to stem a rising tide of opposition to the already trimmed multi-billion dollar foreign aid bill.

The call was spurred by surprise house action in voting to deny Britain further funds until Ireland is united. Although the amendment is expected to be tossed out just prior to a final vote on the bill, its tentative adoption reflected the temper of the house.

British aid under the bill has been estimated at 687 million dollars.

The Irish amendment was the third defeat in a row for the administration. The house dealt the first blow by cutting European recovery funds by 250 million dollars.

Then, with the farm bloc in the saddle, the house earmarked one billion dollars of European aid for purchase of U. S. farm products.

The big fight today is due on an amendment to lop an additional 150 million dollars from the European program.

To Attack Bookkeeping

Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., said he will attack foreign aid bookkeeping. He declared there "are some things which need to be said" about the Economic Cooperation Administration, which handles foreign aid.

The house may reach today the

Chinese Planes Rain Bombs On Red Invaders

HONG KONG, March 30.—(INS)—Fifty Chinese Nationalist planes rained bombs today on invading Chinese communist troops which reportedly have seized three towns on Hainan island ,off the south coast of China.

Reports reaching Hong Kong from Nationalist headquarters in Taipei, Formosa, said troops of Communist General Lin Piao's fourth army began their landing on Monday.

The communists reportedly captured the town of Yupao, Changtsuehho and Chiaotushi, all about 50 miles southwest of Hoihow, Nationalist headquaretrs on Hainan.

Earlier in the week, the Nationalists claimed they drove back two landing attacks.

They said they wiped out one invading force of 3,000 communists and drove off a second assault team trying to make an amphibious landing.

Death Takes Father Of Mickey Rooney

HOLLYWOOD, March 30—(INS)—Joe Yule, veteran vaudeville and stage actor and father of film star Mickey Rooney, died today at his North Hollywood home. Yule was 58.

At Yule's bedside throughout the night were Mickey and the actor's second wife, Leota, and Mickey's stepfather, Fred Pankey.

Yule was noted for his screen portrayals of "Jiggs" in the "Bringing up Father" series based on the celebrated comic strip. Yule had just returned from a tour with a road company's presentation of "Finian's Rainbow."

The comedian was born in Scotland. During his lifetime he appeared in stage shows, burlesque, vaudeville, musical comedy, radio and the films.

Mickey's mother, Nell Carter, divorced Yule in 1930.

Expect Truman Will Announce Appointments

Series Of Shifts In 'Little Cabinet' Indicated Today

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

U. S. SUB BASE, Key West, Fla., March 30.—President Truman is expected to announce today a series of shifts in the defense department civilian command on the "little cabinet" level.

Mr. Truman will hold the first news conference of his Florida vacation late this afternoon.

He is expected, among other things, to give official clarification to reports of impending department shift in the army, air force, National Security Resources Board and, perhaps, navy.

The president may name the new chairman of the vitally-important Atomic Energy Commission, a selection which aides insist will come as a distinct surprise and will be outside a host of names that have been mentioned in speculation.

Changes In Prospect

The following changes are in prospect:

1. Budget Director Frank Pace of Arkansas will become secretary of the army.

2. Secretary of Army Gordon Gray has made it final that he will leave by September 1 to become president of the University of North Carolina.

3. Secretary for Air W. Stuart Symington has been asked to become chairman of the important defense body, the National Securities Resources Board.

4. Symington will be succeeded by Thomas K. Finletter, former ECA representative in London.

5. Assistant Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton will be ele-

Coroner's Jury Hears Evidence

Soberay Is Held Death Car Driver

At an inquest held in the office of Alderman James C. Brice, Wednesday evening, a coroner's jury found that Joseph J. McCormick of R.D. 2, Slippery Rock, came to his death on Saturday night, March 25, of injuries caused when he was struck by a car driven by Chester A. Soberay, 218 West Sheridan avenue, about seven miles east of New Castle.

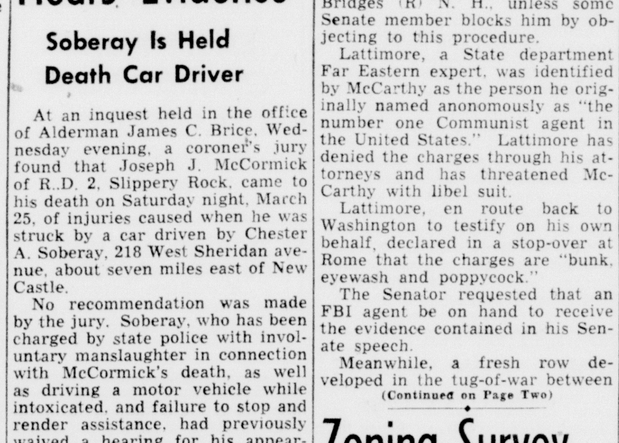

No recommendation was made by the jury. Soberay, who has been charged by state police with involuntary manslaughter in connection with McCormick's death, as well as driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, and failure to stop and render assistance, had previously waived a hearing for his appearance at the June term of court, and is under $1,200 bail.

Wilkins Held For Court

At the same time that the inquest was held, Alderman Brice held a hearing on charges preferred against John X. Wilkins, of 905 Wilmington avenue, who was with Soberay, and had possession of the car charging him with permitting an intoxicated person to drive the car, and disorderly conduct. Alderman Brice held him for court on the first charge and assessed a fine of $10 and costs on the disorderly conduct charge. His attorney appealed the fine and it will also be taken to court.

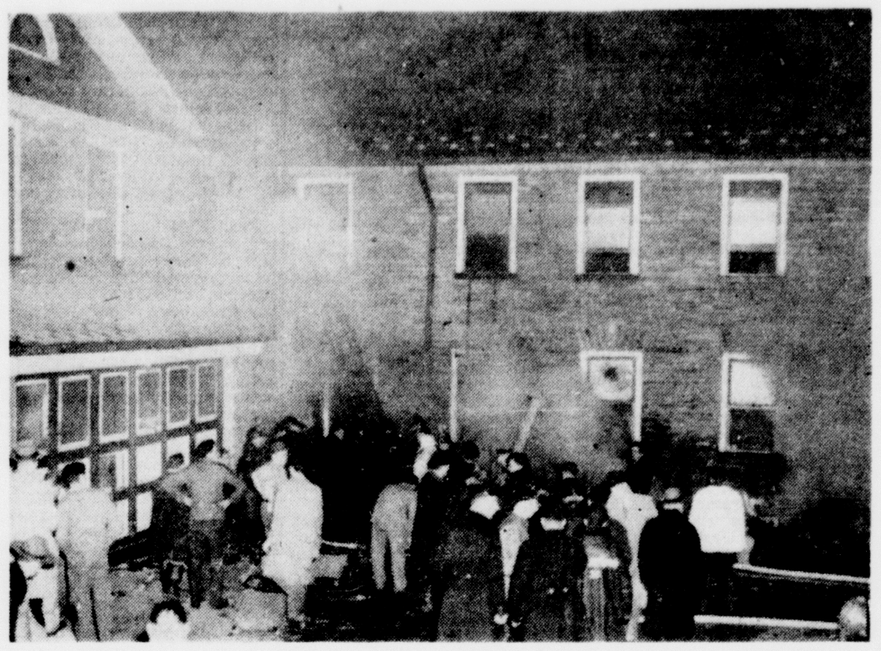

The jury which heard the evidence before the coroner, was composed of David J. Tucker, John E.

Sen. McCarthy Promises New Lattimore Facts

New Row Develops Over Release Of Secret Loyalty Files

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., promised to hand the Senate and the FBI today new information to bolster his charge that Owen J. Lattimore is a Communist sympathizer.

McCarthy said he would speak against the Far Eastern expert on time previously allotted to Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., unless some Senate member blocks him by objecting to this procedure.

Lattimore, a State department Far Eastern expert, was identified by McCarthy as the person he originally named anonomously as "the number one Communist agent in the United States." Lattimore has denied the charges through his attorneys and has threatened McCarthy with libel suit.

Lattimore, en route back to Washington to testify on his own behalf, declared in a stop-over at Rome that the charges are "bunk, eyewash and poppycock."

The Senator requested that an FBI agent be on hand to receive the evidence contained in his Senate speech.

Meanwhile, a fresh row developed in the tug-of-war between

Zoning Survey To Start Soon

Members of both planning and zoning boards and also members of council will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in city hall with representatives of a zoning organization of the University of Pennsylvania selected for the purpose of zoning the city this year at an approximate cost of $7,000.

Two representatives of the organization are now here studying maps of the city and actual zoning is expected to start March 30, according to E. Gene Schweinsberg, who called the meeting for tonight. He will act as chairman of the meeting.

Gen. Bradley Gives Warning On Western Europe Defense

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager, I. N. S.)

THE HAGUE, March 30.—Gen. Omar N. Bradley has warned western Europeans they must not count on a liberation crusade from American to free them from Soviet occupation in event of war with Russia.

The head of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff emphasized that the peoples of western Europe must show a determination to defend their own countries — otherwise Europe is lost.

This was disclosed today by authoritative sources in The Hague for the meeting of Atlantic Pact defense chiefs.

Changed Conditions

These sources said that Bradley in private talks with western European statesmen at The Hague said he believed that amphibious operations by which the allies invaded Europe in the last war likely would prove impossible because of changed conditions of modern warfare and the strength of Soviet land forces.

Gen. Bradley gave the European statesmen the impression that he felt atomic weapons, rockets and long-range guided missiles, coupled with Russia's huge manpower reserves, would render highly improbable successful amphibious

P.U.C. Rescinds Order Here

Action Against Bus Lines Ended

HARRISBURG, March 30—(INS)—The Public Utility Commission today rescinded an order calling for the Shenango Valley Transportation Company to effect a $39,000-a-year rate reduction.

The rate-fixing agency voted 3-2 to end its investigation of the tariff and announced that it will not produce an unreasonable return.

Commissioners John B. Conly, of Pittsburgh, and B. Frank Morgal, of Camp Hill, cast the dissenting votes. Majority ballots were filed by Chairman John Siggins, Jr., of Camp Hill, and Commissioners Henry Houck, of Pottsville, and Harold A. Scragg, of Scranton.

Issued In 1949

The order to reduce fares was issued by the PUC February 21, 1949. The commission said an excessive return would not be yielded by rates of 10 cents cash, eight tokens for 50 cents and a $1 transferable weekly pass and free transfers.

The company complained of experiencing a net operating loss of $1,977 last year, the PUC reported. Operating revenues amounted to $625,194.

The company contended that declining patronage and increased operating expenses prevented a fair return.

Shenango operates in New Castle, Sharon and adjacent territory.

Catholic Day Group To Meet

This evening the Catholic Day committee will meet to make further plans for the gala Catholic Day tentatively set for June.

The meeting will be in the K. of C. hall, 349½ East Washington street, with John Stoffick, chairman in charge.

This year great plans are in the making for what will probably be the greatest Catholic Day held thus far.

Embezzler Slays Three; Then Suicides

CHICAGO, March 30.—(INS)—A trapped embezzler who killed his wife, his mother and his eight-year-old son and then shot himself through the heart in a Chicago cemetery left a week-long diary of the mental agony that preceded the slayings.

The notes—some of them scrawled in a shaky hand—sent Chicago police on a trail of death yesterday to the offices and home of 43-year-old Irvin J. Moskal, a mortgage lawyer.

In an apartment above his law office officers found the body of Moskal's mother, Mollie, 67, shot three times through the chest.

His wife, Estelle (Stella), 40, was shot through the chest in the kitchen of their seven-room suburban home. In the basement lay the body of the son, John, shot through the back. Leon, 6, another son, was spared.

Note Tells Of Crime

One of the notes, shoved under the door of the Progressive Building and Loan Association from which Moskal admitted swindling $30,000, read:

"I just shot and killed Ma at 6:30 a. m... I had to do it even though I go to hell for good... She wasn't a peaceful sort of person but she was my mother and I loved her—maybe too much for my own good. When I was a baby she didn't

Church Calls New Pastor

R.P. Church Members Select Rev. Harsh

At the Reformed Presbyterian church, Oak street, on Wednesday evening, there was a congregational meeting, with Rev. Melville Martin, pastor of Rose Point, as moderator.

It was decided to extend a call to Theodore Harsh, a senior in Reformed Presbyterian Seminary, Pittsburgh, to the church pastorate. The seminary term closes on May 2, and should he accept, it is believed he will take charge soon after.

Mr. Harsh's wife, is at present doing missionary work for two R.P. churches in Pittsburgh, and last summer, the couple were in charge of a R.P. Kentucky mission.

'Wild West' Holdup In Germantown

PHILADELPHIA, March 30.—(INS)—A lone gunman staged a "Wild West" holdup today at a Germantown taproom and escaped with about $175 in cash.

The thug lined the bartender and a dozen customers against a wall and then tossed a beer bottle into the air and fired a shot, shattering it to pieces.

Then he bluntly served notice that anyone who moved would get the same.

Wilmer Scott, the bartender, opened the cash drawer at the thug's command.

Six Suffocate While Strapped To Their Beds

Fire Chief Declares Blaze Looked Like 'Work Of Firebug'

By FRANK BURKE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, March 30—Nine mental patients perished early today when flames swept the basement wing of a fashionable sanitorium where terrorized inmates savagely battled their firemen-rescuers.

About 30 other persons, including patients, two firemen and a nurse, were injured in the fire at the Belle Vista Sanitorium in suburban Springfield township.

Six Suffocated

Police said that six of the patients suffocated while strapped with heavy leather belts to their beds. Three others died while trapped in locked and barred rooms, with no chance to escape.

Fire Chief Andrew White of Springfield township said there were 87 patients in the institution, 27 of them were women.

White declared after inspecting the scene [illegible] panic-stricken inmates had milled about in screaming confusion:

"This looks like the work of a firebug."

The police chief's belief was supported by Lt. John Jellison, also of the Springfield police department, who said:

"It looks as if it might have been started by someone, possibly by a patient."

Just Outside City

The sanitorium, located just outside Philadelphia city limits, is a 40-year-old privately owned institution operated as a place for convalescents, senile, nervous and mental patients.

Pandemonium swept the sanitorium within a few moments after the fire was discovered.

Smoke rose through a laundry chute and swirled up the stairways and touched off a wild scene of disorder and confusion along the screaming, shouting patients.

Savagely, those who were bound by leather belts struggled to break loose from their shackles. Choking and gasping, other patients groped toward windows only to find them screened by heavy wire mesh.

Still other panic-stricken patients pounded on the heavy wooden doors, locked on the outside.

Battle To Break Out

Patient after patient hurled himself against the doors and windows, battling fiercely to break out of the smoke-filled rooms.

Many of the terrorized patients dropped unconscious from smoke inhalation, others were battered

Attlee Is Given Unexpected House Defeat

LONDON, March 30.—(INS)—Prime Minister Attlee met with his cabinet for almost two and a half hours today, discussing the Labor government's tactics to cope with the unexpected defeat in the House of Commons yesterday on a motion to adjourn.

Some of the cabinet members may have advised the prime minister to resign or call for new elections in order to force the Conservatives' hand.

The Conservatives are believed reluctant to force a new election only five weeks after the last balloting.

Attlee is expected to tell the House of Commons this afternoon that Labor's defeat by a vote of 283 to 257 on the adjournment motion is a technical matter and does not constitute a vote of "no confidence".

Sme circles thought, however, that the government will seek a vote of confidence at an early date.

landings on a large-scale on the western European continent.

Bradley's warnings was said to have been issued in response to views expressed to him by western European spokesmen. They anticipate another liberation crusade in event of a new war and for that reason are believed not likely to show great resistance if Russia attacks suddenly.

New Program

Meanwhile it was learned that the security plan which the Atlantic Pact military strategists are submitting to defense ministers on Saturday provides for creation of composite western European forces.

Under this plan, western European nations will be called upon to abandon the traditional policy of maintaining individually all elements of defense forces.

Instead, each country is expected to concentrate on developing those branches of fighting forces for which its rescource and talents are considered best suited.

Thus the plan provides that Britain will concentrate on naval forces and the development of fighter aircraft.

Plan Suggested

France will pay particular attention to development of armored land forces.

Holland, Belgium and Norway and Denmark will concentrate on coastal defenses and land forces equipped with light weapons.

This plan is based on the concept that no one western European Allied Power is economically capable of maintaining an all-around defense force.

The plan would also make it impossible for any single member of the western European group to become aggressive because none would be self-sufficient.

Under this plan the United States primarily would be responsible for strategic air bombing.

and bruised in their efforts to break their bonds.

White said five of the patients died in small solitary confinement cubicles—cells seven feet high and five feet wide. These cubicles were located in the rear of the first floor.

Firemen rescued most of the women patients, who were on the second floor, with the aid of ladders. Some of the patients became violent during the excitement and fought their rescuers.

Heroic nurses led most of the patients through dense smoke after sawing through the leather thongs binding some in order to free them.

Mrs. Theresa Shaw, 38, of New York City, one of the nurses who braved the choking, blinding smoke to save women patients, described the inmates as "terribly scared."

"Only Few Screamed"

Most of the women patients, Mrs. Shaw said, "were wonderful—only a few screamed or protested and struggled."

One of the heroines of the tragedy, Mrs. Shaw crawled along the floor of the smoke-filled women's section to open doors for firemen and to point out the rooms in which patients were bed-ridden.

"Some of the patients stared at us with blank looks," Mrs. Shaw said, "as if they didn't quite know what was going on. Some struggled a little, others just smiled as the firemen carried them to ladders."

In the men's ward on the first floor, however, firemen said 15 terrorized mental patients fought their rescuers like maddened animals.

The huge leather belts were clamped on most of these patients so nurses could control them as they were led from the blazing structure.

One fireman was choked by a maddened patient and it took several nurses and other firemen to extricate him. At least one patient dashed aimlessly among the firefighters, snarling their hoses.

Floor Caves In

At the height of the blaze, the first floor caved in at several points.

Firemen reported the flames started either in the basement boiler room or the adjoining laundry. Intense heat from the flames melted connections on an oil burner, releasing a flow of oil that added fuel to the blaze.

A heavy nine-foot high wire-fence hampered rescue operations from the start and firemen had to chop away part of it to reach the flame-swept building.

All of the injured and overcome were given emergency treatment with inhalators, then taken to hospitals.

The fire was discovered late last night by four patients watching a television show. They shouted the alarm when heat from the burning basement scorched their feet.

Alarm among the inmates swiftly grew to panic as the smoke seeping upward awakened sleepers.

Ten volunteer fire companies and police from surrounding communities helped restore order, while crews of Red Cross workers aided in the work of transferring the patients who were unharmed by smoke.

The fire at the sanitorium was the third in little more than a year. The first occurred January 21, 1949, and the second late last January. A discarded cigarette started the first blaze. The second fire was in a mattress.

the committee and the executive branch over release of secret loyalty files which President Truman has ordered held intact.

Chairman Seth W. Richardson of the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board asked the committee investigating McCarthy's charges for the names of persons accused by the Republican and supporting evidence in its possession. A similar request was understood to have gone to McCarthy.

Richardson explained he wanted the case list so he could proceed with the special review directed by President Truman when he refused to release the loyalty files for the Tydings subcommittee.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, one of the two GOP members of the committee, snapped:

"For the Richardson board to ask for information from us without being willing to give us information they have, is, to stay the least, the height of arrogance."

Beginning To Wonder

Hickenlooper said he is beginning to wonder whether "such action on their part is designed to be in the public interest or comes under the category of a diversionary action."

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., one of the three Democrats on the Foreign Relations subcommittee, said he favored sending Richardson "all "assume" McCarthy would feel likewise about information in his possession.

Names of 80-odd persons accused by McCarthy were attached in sealed envelopes, to subpoenas served by the committee on the secretary of state, attorney general and civil service board chairman. But it was pointed out that President Truman had ordered agency heads not to honor the subpoenas but turn them over to him, hence the sealed envelopes might not be opened.

thought more emphasis should be placed were:

1. An adequate anti-submarine program by the navy.

2. A worldwide, efficient intelligence network.

3. Well-prepared, exhaustively-detailed plans for industrial mobilization reaching even into the country's schools to prepare technically-trained manpower.

The committee was careful to note that the wartime supreme Allied commander endorsed the total amount of around $13,000,000,000 dollars contained in the present budget and warned against over-extending military expenditures to the point of wrecking the economy.

That budget has been passed on by the House Appropriations committee which trimmed about $200,000,000 from it mostly from air force maintenance funds.

Still Under Consideration

It is still under consideration by the Senate group. Reactions from key members of the committee run like this:

Sen. Maybank (D) S. C.—"I'm going to support to the end the modernizing of our air force and the anti-submarine program. We have already discussed those items with the services. The navy has the anti-sub item earmarked in the budget."

Sen. Saltonsall (R) Mass.—"What he (Eisenhower) said made a great deal of common sense. He disagrees on the emphasis being put by the president or the person bringing in his budget. We'll have to make a thorough-going review of it . . ."

Eisenhower told the committee he thought that the government was "taking chances" on its military budget and had gone "a bit too far" in economizing. He said:

"We are fairly well on the proper line between economy and security, but in certain details we have been a bit careless."

desert me even though I was born out of wedlock.

"She never knew what hit her as she was asleep in bed. Now she can be with Pa for good."

When Moskal began writing the notes March 23 he apparently did not intend to kill his wife or either of his sons. One of the entries said:

"Let the kids keep the TV set... This will leave its mark on Stella and the kids, but the boys are small and will forget me. I hope she will find a decent fellow and get married again."

My Head Aches

On another page, Moskal complained:

"My head aches...May God have mercy on me."

The notes were addressed to Paul Literski, secretary of the Loan Association, who found them and called police yesterday.

Moskal described every detail of the mortgage swindles and added:

"I've been trying to pay them back—They covered old debts, etc. —But it looks like the State beat me to it...It seems like in the last year I couldn't keep ahead any more."

Litterski said the state auditor's office last Thursday reported irregularities in records of mortgage loans handled by Moskal. The notes continued:

"Believe me, I never kept or put away any of that mortgage money —It just went out in bills...Stella doesn't know these things and Ma didn't either.

"I did my own worrying."

highly controversial section which would launch President Truman's "point four" program for sharing technical know-how with underdeveloped areas.

The final vote, which leaders originally predicted would come the first of this week, is now not expected until Friday at the earliest.

Rep. Herter (R) Mass., an influential supporter of the "point four" program, disclosed he will move to cut the 45 million dollar project by 20 million dollars. He explained he did not think the program has been perfected. He added:

"I am told my amendment will not carry because opponents want to make a larger saving by defeating the entire point four program."

Hearing Today

The senate foreign relations committee holds its first hearing on "point four" today. Witnesses are State Secretary Acheson, Ambassador-at-large Philip C. Jessup and assistant Secretary of State Thorp.

Rep. Smith (R) Wis., a foreign affairs committeeman, said he will offer today's amendment to cut European funds another 150 million dollars.

President Truman asked three billion 100 million dollars for European aid. This included a request for authority to spend 150 million dollars saved from this year's program.

The Smith amendment would deprive ECA of authority to spend the money it saved. If approved, Smith's amendment would deepen the slash in European funds to 400 million dollars.

Miller, D. E. Smith, Paul W. Rhodes, Russell C. Melvin, and Bart Richards.

Dr. Paul H. Wilson, testified that Mr. McCormick died in the Jameson Memorial hospital, just after being brought there for treatment. He stated that he had suffered a compound fracture of the skull, fractures of the right femur and left shoulder and left ankle.

Ambulance Aid Testifies

Albert Gettings, of 114 North Mercer street, who assisted in bringing McCormick to the hospital, stated that he had been called by R. L. Boyd to go on an ambulance trip to the scene of the accident, and while the ambulance driver, Robert Myers, was turning the ambulance around, he went to Mr. McCormick's side. He was lying in a ditch at the side of the road. Gettings stated, with his legs through a barbed wire fence, and had been covered with a comforter. He stated that enroute to the hospital, the ambulance was held up for about five minutes at the East side crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad by a freight train.

Richard Curry, of R.D. 6, Mercer, testified that the car, which apparently had been following his car for several miles, swung around to pass him, and after striking Mr. McCormick, swerved around sharply in front of him, turning clear around and striking his car. The two cars came to rest facing each other on the south side of the berm. His car was so badly damaged, it could not be driven away he stated. He stated that he saw the driver at the scene only momentarily, and that he had then disappeared.

State Policeman Testifies

State Policeman William O'Brien testified that he had been called to the accident scene about 7:30 o'clock by R. L. Boyd, who had received a call to send an ambulance to the scene, and met the ambulance on its way to the hospital about a half mile away from the scene.

Arriving at the scene he found the two autos which had been involved, the one a 1948 Buick sedan, and the other a 1941 Dodge coupe. The coupe had been driven by Mr. Curry. He was unable to locate the driver of the Buick and was told by someone at the scene that the driver had taken off across the fields.

He questioned Mr. Wilkins who was sitting in the car, he stated and Wilkins refused to tell him who the driver was. He stated that Wilkins said the state police had made things tough for him, and he would make it tough for them Approximately two hours later, he learned that the driver has been Chester A. Soberay, and that he had given himself up. He questioned Mr. Soberay around midnight, he stated, and Soberay admitted driving the car and leaving the scene.

6. Secretary for Navy Francis P. Matthews will remain in that post despite a wish to take an ambassadorial post, preferably that of special presidential envoy to the Vatican.

7. The job of under secretary for army, in the process of being vacated by Tracy A. Voorhees, is still to be filled.

The presidential conference this afternoon will be the first he has held in nearly a month.

This being a vacation for the president, he has set the hour for today's session at his own convenience—4:40 p. m.

SURPRISE SHOWER FOR BETTY BLEWITT

Miss Betty Blewitt, a spring bride elect, was honored at a delightful surprise shower, Tuesday evening. Miss Ruth Capitola, who will serve as maid of honor at the forthcoming wedding, entertained a large group of friends in her home at 138 Leasure avenue.

The evening was spent playing bridge and canasta, with high score prizes being awarded to Miss Donna Shellito and Mrs. William Roberts.

A delicious lunch was served at tables decorated in the Easter motif. The unique favors were miniature green nests, which held tiny yellow chicks encased in broken vari-colored egg shells. Inscribed on each egg shell was "Blew and Don—April 29". The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Peter Capitola and the Misses Mary Capitola and Margareta Bergman.

With the Easter theme still prevailing, the honoree was then given an Easter basket and instructed to search for Easter eggs which were hidden throughout the house. After finding several tiny nests of colored eggs with which she filled her basket, her final instructions led her to a large cleverly decorated Easter basket. On each end of this basket was a life size plastic Easter bunny and in it was found an array of lovely gifts of a miscellaneous nature.

Miss Blewitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Harold Blewitt, 430 Laurel blvd., will become the bride of Donald S. Hartshorne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hartshorne, 522 E. Moody avenue. The open church wedding will be held at the First Christian church, 2:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, April 29.

HAINLEY-GOODWIN MARRIAGE NEWS

Miss Edna Mae Hainley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Hainley, Youngstown, former New Castle residents was married on Friday evening, March 24, to William Allison Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Goodwin, Masury.

The picturesque early spring wedding was solemnized in St. Luke's Lutheran church, Youngstown, with Rev. Maynard A. Stull officiating at the evening ceremony. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Hazel Buchanan at the organ and Miss Wealthie Bush, soloist.

The bridal gown was fashioned of sheer white marquisette with a deep bertha of Chantilly lace and a full hoop skirt trimmed with the same lace. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible marked with white orchid and showered with stephanotis.

Miss Alyce Turner, Sharon, sorority sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was gowned in Nile green taffeta, styled similarly to the bridal costume. A tiara of yellow roses, pompons and acacia matched her floral bouquet. Charles Bible, Masury, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, attended as best man. Ushering were Robert Miller and Rudolf Kolarich.

A reception was held after the ceremony, in the church parlor. Mrs. Bible and Miss Mary Jane Goodwin, sistes of the bridegroom, poured. Aides were the Misses Bernice Brownlee, Betty Sue O'Brien, Florence McNaughton and Mary Alice Schneider.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin, will reside at 205 East Chalmers avenue, Youngstown, O. The bride received her A. B. A. title and B. S. degree from Youngstown and was a member of Alpha Iota national business sorority. She is employed as secretary to the registrar at the college and is a part-time teacher in the business and secretarian school.

Mr. Goodwin received his degree from Youngstown college where he was a member of Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity. He was with the Marine Corps during World War II and is now employed by the Sharon Steel Corporation.

MARLENE PAGLEY IS FETED ON BIRTHDAY

Little Miss Marlene Joy Pagley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pagley of Harrison street, was the guest of honor at a party on Tuesday evening at her home.

Thirty-six of her tiny friends gathered to celebrate her fifth birthday anniversary. Several party games were enjoyed during the evening, with prizes awarded to Anita DeCaprio, Georgie Gerard, and Andrea Martin.

The rooms were decorated in the Easter theme, with pastel colors prediminating. A large cake centered the prettily arranged table, and an Easter chick marked each place. Salma Macarella aided the hostess in serving delicious refreshments.

MORE AND MORE CARS

A great many men in business and financial circles will be surprised if automobile sales in 1950 do not hit a new high. There are 10 cars now for every 11 American families, and by the end of the year the figure may reach 11 for 11. The number of families having two cars will offset the number having no car.

At the end of 1949, there were 35,700,000 passenger car registrations in the United States. That was approximately 10,000,000 more than on V-J Day, and 6,000,000 more than on Pearl Harbor Day. The war made little change in the automobile-owning habits of Americans.

Average retail prices of automobiles rose by 68 per cent, but average family incomes rose even faster. Families with incomes ranging between $3,000 and $10,000 a year spend approximately 10 per cent of their incomes on the purchase, operation and maintenance of cars.

There has been one change, though. The average car is a bit older than was the case 10 years ago. In 1941 it was five and one-half years. Shortly after the war it was nine years. Now it is eight years. This will be whittled down somewhat, but the average may never be as low again as it was in 1941. Better car balance, better roads and better maintenance have made cars more durable, and the war taught millions of Americans that cars do not wear out as fast as they thought.

The immediate outlook is for a prosperous future for the automobile industry. For the car owner that also means that parking space will be harder to find and that traffic will be harder to battle.

SAVING BY DESTROYING

The recommendation by a Senate House Committee—on a strictly party vote, with Republican members voting against it—that the steel industry be required to file with Congress advance notice of any price increase is described by the minority members of the committee as "looking strongly" in the direction of government price-fixing.

What the proposal involves, especially because it also calls for hearings by a federal board and the power to subpoena witnesses, is actual control by government of the industry's operations.

Who, for instance, is so simple-minded as to believe that a decision by a federal board against a price rise would not have the moral effect of law and that any violation of it by a steel concern, regardless of its financial needs, would not be followed by an immediate demand for either actual price-fixing by the government or possibly nationalization of the industry?

Indeed, light has already been shed on these questions in the President's messages. On at last two occasions Mr. Truman has asked for authority to erect steel plants in case of what he considered an emergency.

This is a move toward government ownership and operation which should be resisted not only by the steel companies—which are at the moment primarily concerned—but by all business. If this can be done to steel, it can be done to any industry that is engaged in interstate commerce.

If advocates of this move succeed in their purpose political advantage will take the place of competition as the factor which will determine what a product shall cost. And that's what the majority calls "preserving the free enterprise system!"

END OF THE TRAIL

It is one of those paradoxes that the death of one of this country's best known big game hunters should have been caused indirectly by a taxicab. Frank Buck, who died in Texas, had been in declining health since an auto crash in Chicago three years ago. Sorrowfully it can be said that a machine did what no wild beast could do.

Frank Buck's life was one that everyone dreams of emulating. From the time he was 18 he had roamed the earth in search, earlier, of adventure; later of wild animals and reptiles from the farthest corners of the earth. To millions he became known as the man who would "bring 'em back alive."

What a slogan that was! It immediately conjured up in the minds of young and old alike a man in whipcord breeches, boots and sun helmet, tanned face and neat mustache. He became the mold, in effect, for jungle hunters.

Two generations have known of Frank Buck. Like the late Edgar Rice Burroughs, who died a few days earlier, he brought home the breath and substance of faraway lands and made them familiar to everyone.

What is so rare—a poet once asked—as a day in June? How about an upset in a Russian election?

Detroit, we read, has put out its park benches. In the hopes, no doubt, that Mother Nature can take a hint.

Maybe the world does improve but one of the most popular of the new tunes is all about the "dear old days gone by."

A candidate for governor in Alabama, a staunch believer in the power of suggestion makes campaign speeches from a portable backdrop resembling the front of the state capitol. This is a good idea if it doesn't cause the voters to think of taxes.

India And Pakistan Conference

The prime ministers of India and Pakistan are scheduled to meet soon in a long-delayed but vital conference and hopes have risen for settlement of a little-publicized "cold war" which for months has taken an estimated toll of 100 civilian lives a day.

These not inconsiderable casualties have resulted from riots in east and west Bengal.

They stem directly from the perilous situation in Kashmir which the United Nations has been unable to solve and have thrown the sub-continent of India-Pakistan back to the bloodiest days of communal disorders.

A "cease fire" order is in effect for Indian-Pakistani troops along an 800-mile front in Kashmir.

Does Not Apply To Civilians

But this does not apply to civilians. And the continued clashes between Hindu and Moslem in Bengal, in the general region surrounding populous Calcutta, have aroused fears of a racial war that could spread with lightning rapidity throughout the Oriental world.

One of the most tragic aspects of the matter is that the Kashmir situation rudely jolted the "peace of atonement" that followed the assassination of Mohandas K. Gandhi.

It was almost a miracle how the national mourning over the death of the holy man put a virtual end to communal disorders.

Killings came to an end. Hindus and Moslems, strife-torn for centuries, walked together in peace.

As one prominent Indian leader explained at the time, it was as though the entire population was overtaken by remorse that it allowed a situation to develop where Gandhi's assassination was even remotely possible.

Came To Sudden End

This idyllic situation came to a sudden end. Now Premier Liaquat Ali Khan, in announcing the forthcoming meeting with Indian Premier Pandit Nehru, has said nothing but a personal and realistic discussion between them can solve the grave problem.

The crisis stems from the fact that India, which is largely Hindu, wants to annex Kashmir, which is predominantly Moslem.

Liaquat and his fellow Pakistani Moslems charge that India has violated a promise to permit a plebiscite in Kashmir, which Pakistan feels sure of winning.

The Kashmir dispute has crippled the closely integrated economies of both India and Pakistan. There has been no commercial traffic since Sept. 19, 1949. Both areas are spending far more than they can afford upon their military organizations for both feel that internal warfare may be just around the corner.

It is inevitable that the rising tension between the two governments should be reflected among the lower classes.

The saddened goodwill that followed Gandhi's death might have been perpetuated. But it would have taken constant care and application.

Atmosphere of Tension

In place of this, there has been an atmosphere of rising tension and constant aggravation.

The leaders of both dominions have declared themselves ready for war if need be—hardly an attitude to encourage a continued truce between Hindu and Moslem, whose customs, habits, religious beliefs and manner of life all differ so completely.

In the opinion of observers who have studied the sub-continent at first hand in an attempt to find some solution, the gravest danger lies in the possibility that the present clashes cannot be isolated.

The longer the governments of New Delhi and Karachi remain divided and at dagger's point, the greater is the danger.

News travels slowly in much of vast and undeveloped India.

Weeks elapsed before everyone knew of the division of India and Pakistan and the no doubt well-inspired attempts to segregate the differing populations.

Some time may pass before millions learn that communal warfare has been revived as a result of the Kashmir dispute. The fear is that Hindu will take this as license to kill Moslem, while Moslem will regard it as a green light to slay Hindu.

This civilian warfare is carried out on first century principles—knives and strangulation. Once encouraged it is almost impossible to control. Liaquat Ali Khan and Nehru face a tremendous task in saving their own people from themselves.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

A BABY SITTER ON THE JOB

Ruth is fourteen. Bruce is three. Ruth arrived at Bruce's home at eight.

"Brucy, this is Ruth. She is going to stay with you tonight. Dad and Mommy are going out." As Bruce had had some other baby sitters keep him he raised no objections.

"Now, Ruth, just let Brucy do as he likes and give him what he wants and you will have no trouble. He may want you to read some stories to him. When he gets sleepy put him to bed. If he calls to you when he is in bed go to him and he will know what he wants. Don't let him cry. I never do.

"If he gets hungry before bedtime or after he's in bed give him some of the cookies in the cupboard or some bread with butter and jam on it. If he doesn't like that give him some of this candy on the matel piece." (Bruce was listening.)

"Now a happy evening, Brucy dear. Good night, Ruth. We'll be back soon."

All Lights On

The mother and father returned at one o'clock. All the lights were on bright. She hurried to Bruce's bedroom but Brucy was not there. She went to her own room and there were Ruth and Brucy fast asleep on her bed.

"Precious Brucy; come see him, Daddy." Daddy went and both parents were happy to know their little boy was so secure. They agreed that Ruth had done just as the mother would have done. "Just as our doctor would have advised," the mother observed.

By and by the mother gently awakened Ruth and she herself carefully lay down beside Brucy without disturbing him. Dad took Ruth home and when he returned he found the mother sound asleep and decided not to disturb them. Then they slept securely the rest of the night.

Wanted a Story

On the way home Ruth reported her evening with Brucy to the father: "I tried to do just as your wife wanted me to do. First he got out all his blocks and I built some of them for him. Then he wanted a story and I read him two. Then Brucy wanted me to play hide and he would find me. We did. Next he wanted me to hop on one foot. After I did that he told me to lie on the floor so he could stand on my tummy and jump off. When he got tired of that he wanted me to sand on my head 'th' way Mommy does.' I did the bes' I could.

But he didn't get sleepy till after ten o'clock. At last I tucked him in. Then he wanted me to bring him some toys to have in his bed. I got them and he was happy for a few minutes and I went out to the other room. I thought he was asleep when he called me and said he wanted candy. I got the cookies first. He threw them across the floor and yelled, 'Candy!' Next I offered him some bread and jam and he was madder till I got him the candy; one piece, two pieces, three pieces, four pieces. I went back to the other room. But soon he called again and wanted a drink, wanted to go to the toilet, wanted more candy. He kept me busy till he wore down and acted sleepy. It was about 11:45 then. By and by he asked me to sleep with him in Mommy's bed, where you found us." What kind of a person do you suppose Bruce will be when he is grown up?

WHAT HE KEPT

He couldn't keep money. So loose was his grip
Whatever he earned through his fingers would slip.
He couldn't keep tidy. His

But he kept to the end every friend that he made.

He couldn't keep trinkets. If some one should say:
"I wish I had that," he would give it away.
He forgot about value and what he had paid,
But he never forgot any friend
he had made.

He couldn't remember a slight or

"It is silly," he said, "to keep grudges too long."
He often made loans and remembered them not,
But his friends were possessions

BUTCH—GARDNER

Butch likes to help Granddad in the garden. He likes to plant things and watch them grow.

He likes to eat carrots and cucumbers and tomatoes right out of the garden.

Granddad is very careful of his tools. One day Butch forgot and left the rake lying in the grass with the tines sticking up. Grandma stepped on it. The handle flew up. It broke her glasses and gave her a black eye.

Butch was sorry but it didn't help the black eye very much.

Garden tools are pretty dangerous if they are left lying on the ground.

THE GIRLS I LEFT BEHIND ME

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

To Abandon Aleutian Bases

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A decision has been taken by the joint chiefs of staff which illustrates all the problems of the defense establishment in relation to that much-debated word, economy. Military installations of the United States in the Aleutian islands off Alaska are, with one or two exceptions, to be abandoned.

This is certain to cause both public and bureaucratic clamor. The decision was taken with a full realization of the risks involved, including the risk of public controversy.

The Aleutian chain extends for about 900 miles into the north Pacific. The islands are, for the most part barren and fog-shrouded. The most important base to be given up is on Shimya, which is one of the few in the outer chain that is so flat planes can come in for a landing over water without difficulty.

Northwest Airlines uses Shimya as a base on the route to Japan. If this stop is abandoned, Northwest in all probability will have to change to a route on which another line is already operating. The Civil Aeronautics Board is expected to protest the abandonment of Shimya.

Developed Fairly Large Base

During World War II the navy developed at Adak in the Aleutian chain a fairly large base. According to present plans, this will be maintained as a naval base, if only on a stand-by basis.

In the lengthy debate by the joint chiefs of staff the decision on the Aleutians was based finally on the following reasoning. Possession of the outer Aleutians is of little value militarily either to the United States or to its potential enemy, the Soviet Union. The islands are extremely difficult to supply and the persistent fog greatly reduces their values as operational air bases.

The JCS were fully aware of the public reaction should the islands be taken by the Russians in the event of war. An immediate demand would arise that they be retaken. The JCS would resist that demand on the ground that they would be more of a liability than an asset to the enemy.

Badly Bungled

In World War II U. S. troops recaptured Attu and Kiska in the Aleutian chain from the Japs. The assault operations were badly bungled and unnecessarily costly.

As to the savings, one estimate is as high as $30,000,000. This is believed, however, to include savings to be made on the mainland of Alaska as well as in the island chain. The defense line for the mainland is based on Fairbanks and Anchorage in the belief that the wild and almost empty terrain to the west would be of little use to an invader.

Governor Ernest Gruening of Alaska has publicly expressed deep concern over the safety of Alaska, suggesting as others have that it might become the Pearl Harbor of another war. Total request in the 1951 budget for Alaskan defenses was $137,000,000. House economizers have cut this to $96,000,000. Gruening believes that not less than a billion dollars should be spent on Alaska's defenses during the coming fiscal year.

Statehood Advocated

Gruening is an ardent advocate of statehood for the territory, believing that only in this way can Alaska obtain funds sufficient for its defenses. The house already has approved a statehood bill and a senate committee is expected to start hearings. Certain senators have been using delaying tactics to prevent a vote on statehood for both Alaska and Hawaii.

This is, of course, a political question with which the joint chiefs cannot concern themselves. On a related issue they are conducting a debate with the bureau of the budget.

The JCS has asked for $100,000,000 for housing desperately needed for troops in Alaska. Present facilities are woefully inadequate for the approximately 8,000 stationed there and an expansion program is essential to take care of the 25,000 now planned for defense of the Anchorage-Fairbanks line.

Must Speed Construction

The budget bureau has suggested that only $75,000,000 of this could at the most be spent in one fiscal year. The JCS argue that construction must be speeded up and the full amount spent in a 12-month period if Alaskan defenses are to be put on a stable basis.

A somewhat similar argument is going on over whether $50,000,000 or $35,000,000 can be spent in one year for construction of the radar warning network around North Ameirca. The network is also vital to Alaskan defenses.

The outsider has no means of judging the merits of these individual arguments. But the belief is growing that when economies originally made by military men themselves are compounded first by committees of congress and then by the house and senate, the danger line has in fact been reached or passed.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan
(By International News Service)

The polls are away off again . . . One now reports that most people don't know the difference between Democrats and Republicans.

If they don't, how come so many Democrats get elected and so many Republicans don't?

Some will agree that you can't tell Democrats and Republicans apart . . . Some will agree that you can't tell 'em anything.

The GOP chairman says his party members should start pushing doorbells if they hope to get back in power . . . It might not elect them but it would show they still have some strength left.

But what should a Republican do when a housewife comes to the door and says "We have a vacuum cleaner" . . . Tell her he has the vacuum for it?

Actually there is too much emphasis on party . . . Party is not important these days if you're a Democrat.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

This question was asked . . . "Why do you write so much about the United States and how fine it is?" . . . Gosh, that will take a long time to answer . . . but in order to get a thought across now . . . look at it this way. So many of us take all the things that we enjoy so much for granted that it seems that now is the time to take stock of ourselves and make sure that the things that we do have will still be here in the future and to make sure that the future will bring us new pleasures.

The United States . . . or rather the people who make the United States have accomplished more in 150 years . . . than any other peoples in the history of the world in like time. Look at what has happened in the past fifty years? It's amazing . . . look at the new jobs that have been created . . . look at the rate the items that we use every day are being produced. Look at the leisure time the men and women who make all these things have . . . Look at the things they use in that leisure time . . . That little bit alone is a world record. Where else in the world today can you find such.

Surely not in a nation that is under direct government control . . . They (the people) have nothing but the bare necessities of life. A full belly is a rarity in many nations of the world today . . . Here you eat well, you have a nice comfortable home, you dress decently. Sure there are exceptions and there always will be. Did you know that there are on the relief rolls today names of men and women who have been on that list for the past three generations.

Well, we see the United States and the people that make it up as a mighty fine land and a mighty fine group of people. We also see the other side of the world . . . we like this side and fear that the other side would like to tear the U. S. down to their mode of living. Evidence is shown that through the back door (while we are intently looking out the front) things are being slipped over on us . . . we are being educated to look to the government to solve our problems . . . We are being educated to work for the government . . . The government used to work for us . . . and when it did we accomplished great deeds and passed the other side of the world.

Big Topic In England

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

HAVERGATE ISLAND, SUFFOLK, ENGLAND—Englishmen fascinate me to death.

With the cold war going on, the H-bomb discussion at its heights, the Tories beating the Conservatives over the head and vice versa and the chance of Russian submarine warfare costing England its existence, what do you think is the hottest topic of discussion in England today?

Stalin? No. The Marshall Plan? No, again. The King's illness? No, no, again.

It is the avocet.

What do you suppose the avocet is? It is a bird. It is a black-and-white "wader" with long legs and a distinctive, long, up-turned bill.

First Time In 150 Years

The avocet is nesting in England for the first time in 150 years. Some bird watcher, and this country is as full of bird watchers as heaven is of angels, spotted the avocet. A great meeting was held when word came back to London that the avocet's nest had been found. The Royal Society for the Protection of Birds sat is session for hours. The Society could not decide whether or not to release the information as to where the avocet was squatting lest avocet-lovers would climb the mountain where the nest was located and steal the eggs.

Well into the morning the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds decided to make the locality known, but only after stationing armed watchers who will keep an eye on the breeding grounds through the summer until the fledglings are full grown.

I came here to look at the avocet, and I might say right off that I was not welcome. A watcher armed with something that looked like a blunderbuss met me at the station here in Havergate and asked, 'What are you here for?'

I told him with an honesty that is not usual with me that I was here to take a slow peek at the avocet.

He told me that no one could see the avocet but Mr. Avocet.

I asked him if he meant that an American who had come thousands of miles across the Atlantic to take a peek at this returned bird would not be allowed to take a peek. After all, I told him, we have plenty of eggs in our country and I wouldn't like to upset my kitchen staff by telling them I would like to have an avocet omelet when I go home. He told me, "No, you do not see the rare bird."

Reached Avocet's Nest

Ducking amidst the daffodils and tulips I eluded this stern fellow and started climbing the rocks where the avocet was perched. I was almost half-way up when Lord Primrose took a pot shot at me. He only winged me and I continued climbing until I reached the avocet's nest.

A more unattractive bird you will seldom find. The avocet looks like a sea gull with sea-sickness and its cry is something that sounds a bit like a stunned turkey. I sat with the avocet for about thirty minutes. Her mate was very solicitous. Every five minutes or so he would bring back a beakful of straw and throw it right on top of her head. Then he would drift out to sea and come back holding hands with a sea gull. Frankly, I have a feeling that the male avocet, turned loose, say, with a group of wrens or thrushes would leave his mate right up there in the Suffolk hills, with no one to comfort or protection by the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds.

England doesn't know this but I stole myself an avocet egg and as soon as I get home I'm going to hatch same. I see an avocet, full grown, as a source of revenue. My guess is that people will come from miles aronud to see a bird that has England so excited that it can forget for the moment the trials and tribulations of the world.

This is not written in any disparagement of Englishmen. I think they can carry on, laugh and be happy, with less than any other nation on earth. Frankly, I'm awfully glad to be here on the little island that despite all it's been through shows more smiles in Piccadilly than you'll find on Fifth Avenue on an average day.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

There isn't much to this story.

But I do want to tell it to you, because there is a little of Mrs. Gunkel's spirit in every one of us.

The trouble is that we don't hear much about the good deeds people do, nor the good thoughts that are in their hearts.

Very few of us want to be mean or nasty. The great majority are good and decent.

But, somehow, an awful lot of folks keep their niceness locked up inside themselves and don't show their real selves to the world.

Mrs. Juneau Gunkel, of Milford, Conn., is a 35-year-old widow with two young children.

A few mornings ago she was lying in bed, enjoying those last few delicious winks just before getting up for the chores of the day.

It was a darn cold morning and getting up wasn't anything to be anticipated with very keen pleasure.

But suddenly Mrs. Gunkel heard the whining of a dog. It sounded as if it came out of the Weppawaug river, which flows by her house.

Quickly she got out of bed and ran to the window.

About thirty feet away she saw the dog, who had apparently tried to cross the river, but had broken through the ice and was now vainly trying to get out.

It wasn't her dog, but she recognized him at once.

It was "Sergeant Cocoa", a friendly fellow who visited all the neighbors and whose favorite fun was to follow the fire department on its calls. As a matter of fact, the firemen were the ones who had named him "Sergeant Cocoa" when he was a pup.

Mrs. Gunkel forgot all about the cold, all about being dressed only in pajamas.

She forgot all about Sergeant Cocoa being only a dog.

Sergeant Cocoa was a living being and he was in distress.

Mrs. Gunkel leaped into the river, swam out to the dog and carried him safely ashore.

At the river bank his friends, the firemen, were waiting for the two. They helped her into the house and took the shivering dog back to his owner a few blocks away.

But just before he jumped on the shiny red fire truck, Sergeant Cocoa expressed his heartfelt thanks to Mrs. Gunkel.

He didn't make a speech as you or I might have done.

He just licked her hand and wagged his tail. But Mrs. Gunkel understood.

Our local newspaper ran a little story about Mrs. Gunkel. A lot of people probably never saw it. They were too busy.

Just as most of us are too darn busy to see what's in our neighbors' hearts.

State Police Say:

It is a practice on the part of many drivers to park their cars in places where parking is prohibited. "No Parking" zones are established on the basis of necessity, and parking your car where prohibited is not only unlawful but very dangerous, as an improperly parked car may obstruct the view at an intersection, prevent the use of a fire hydrant, or obscure a stop sign. Never park within 25 feet of an intersection, 15 feet of a fire hydrant, or within 30 feet of a stop sign.

Steel Consumers Reported Still Pressing Producers

NEW YORK, March 30.—(INS)—The magazine Iron Age said Wednesday that steel consumers are continuing to press producers for as much tonnage as they can obtain.

It reported that from all appearances, predictions made earlier this year on the duration of strong steel demand may seen too conservative.

The national metalworking weekly noted that where steel producers were formerly talking in terms of a somewhat softer market after the second quarter of the year, the thinking now leans toward a strong third quarter, and perhaps beyond that.

According to Iron Age, one of the big reasons for the optimism among steel people this week is the apparent soundness of the market.

It said that most consumers have had little opportunity to build up heavy inventories, and thus demand is less likely to take a sudden nosedive.

The publication stressed, however, that much depends on what happens in the automobile industry during the remainder of 1950.

Branch Plant Has Been Consolidated

Following its national plan of consolidating branch plants of the company, Armour and Company has closed the New Castle plant. The plant had been in service here for more than half a century.

Out of some 600 branch plants in the country consolidation has reduced this number to about 250 it is said. The local district will be serviced in the future from Youngstown.

Pymatuning Lake Boat Livery Aids Fishing

HARRISBURG—With 100 new Lyman round bottom boats now available to fishermen, the Pymatuning lake boat livery at Jamestown, Pa., will be open 24 hours a day from about April 1 to October 15—earlier or later, weather permitting—the State Department of Commerce vacation and recreation bureau has announced.

Ray Heidt, former boat livery operator on Lake Erie for 36 years, is the new operator. Fishing tackle, lures and live bait will also be available at the livery.

Wires Crossed—Anything Goes

BRIDGEPORT, O.—(INS)—"Turn on the toaster, I want to make a phone call" or "turn on the washer for a smoke screen."

No, that wasn't quite the conversation between Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gasper of Lansing, near Bridgeport, but it could have been.

When Mr. Gasper hooked up the toaster, the telephone rang. All the rest of the party line answered too. He unplugged it and then attached it again—the phone rang.

The telephone company repairman was just as puzzled.

Mrs. Gasper also had a harrowing experience when she started her washer. It smoked. When she called the fire department, the blaze battlers arrived but found no one at home. They decided it a false alarm.

But Mrs. Gasper had gone out for an electrician. He made short work of it. A change of the wiring brought peace to the Gasper home. It developed that both the electric and telephone wires were grounded on the gas furnace.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Persecutions are as old as man. When a man or group of men disagree with the rulers of the state or of the established religion—any religion—they are imprisoned, tortured, put to death.

We see this today—men brought to trial, suffering for their religion, for their disagreement with tyrannical rulers. So it was in Jesus' time.

This religion, this early church of righteous men who believed so firmly in the Savior; who revered Him and His mighty works, was bitterly resented by the rulers of the land and of the established Jewish religion. This small group of humble people who dared question them and their opinions, must be made to suffer and to die for their dissent.

The lesson today is one we always read with pleasure—even delight. It tells of Jesus' moment of earthly triumph, which ended at the end of that same week in His tragic trials, and crucifixion.

Jesus traveled from Jericho toway Jerusalem. He reached Bethany on Friday evening. The next day was the Sabbath, which he would spend in meditation (most likely at Lazarus' home—the Lazarus whom He had raised from the dead).

Next day—Sunday—came His triumphal entry into Jerusalem, acclaimed by the people as the "Son of David".

They came near to Jerusalem, near Bethpage and the Mount of Olives. Two of Jesus' disciples were chosen to go to the village where they would find an ass (donkey) with a colt. These they were to bring to Him.

If anyone questioned them, they were simply to say, "The Lord hath need of them." The two obeyed. They asked no questions, hesitated not a moment. They were not afraid they would be arrested as horse thieves. They did as their Master told them.

They found the ass and colt as He had said, and took them to the Lord. They threw their clothes on the donkey and seated Jesus on her back.

A very great multitude had collected—many pilgrims returning home to Jerusalem spread the word of His coming to believers. Many curious persons, doubtless thronged the way, eager to see this Man—this Prophet—of Whom they had heard so much.

"And a very great multitude spread their garments in the way; others cut down branches from the tree, and strewed them in the way. And the multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, saying Hosannah to the Son of David: Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest."

Next day Jesus visited the temple and for the second time cleansed it of the money-changers and of those that bought and sold the doves used in the service. He overthrew the tables and seats, and told them: "It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves."

"And the blind and the lame came to Him in the temple; and He healed them."

Of course this infuriated the chief priests and scribes, who took notice of all He did and said. They hated the children crying in the temple, "Hosanna to the Son of David."

They said to Him, "Hearest Thou what they say?" And Jesus answered them from the Old Testament scripture: "Yea, have ye never read, 'Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise'?"

Then He left and went again to His friends in Bethany.

Peter utters some comforting words for all martyrs in his first letter:

"Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when His glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy."

In his Revelation, John adds further comfort to those persecuted for Christ's sake: He pictures Jesus' throne in the new Jerusalem, with the angels and many dressed in white robes.

"And I said unto him (one of the elders), what are these which are arrayed in white robes? ... And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

IDENTIFICATION MADE

SEOUL, March 30.—(INS)—Identification of a head severed from a body on a battlefield was declared officially today to have confirmed the death of Korea's communist guerrilla, Kim Dal Sam.

The announcement was made by the south Korean army's chief of staff, Gen. Shin Tai Yung.

Plans Being Made To Evacuate 2000 From Red China

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—The State department announced today that new plans are being drafted in an effort to evacuate about 2,000 foreign nationals from Communist-held Shanghai.

The initial attempt to evacuate the foreigners, including 300 Americans, was blocked about ten days ago by Chinese Communists when they refused to let two LST's go up the Yangtze river.

State Department spokesman Michael McDermott said that the department is hopeful that the evacuation can be accomplished at an early date.

Only about 25 of the 200 members of the steel industry are equipped to produce steel from the processing of raw materials to the rolling of the finished product.

Anthracite Coal Production Not Dying, Says Firm

PHILADELPHIA, March 30.—(INS)—The Lehigh Coal & Navigation company disputed the claim that anthracite production is a "dying industry".

In its 129th annual report, the firm predicted that "the rapid population growth, with the consequent upsurge in home construction, should provide a big cushion against further loss of coal markets."

The report said that 29 per cent of the nations' population lives within the anthracite marketing area. It added:

"This area has seen an increase in its population of 10 per cent since 1940, and the bureau of census forecasts a continued rise in population until at least 1975."

The company blamed unusually mild weather production in 1949 and predicted "that this decline in not an indication of a downward trend."

No Novels Expected From '50 Dust Storm

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—The agriculture department doesn't think any new novelist will have a chance to write a "Grapes of Wrath" about the current dust storms in the midwest.

The loss to a future John Steinbeck comes chiefly through the efforts of the farmers themselves, the department maintains, because they are taking better care of their soil, and windstorms cannot carry away as much rich land as they did 15 years ago.

CUT BANK—When 21-below weather burst a water main, many Cut Bank residences were left without water and one householder quipped: "New York has nothing on us . . . but it's too cold to take a bath, anyway."

Search For Girl Now Shifted To New York City

BRN MAWR, Pa., March 30.—The search for Gertrude Colston Nauman, missing Bryn Mawr college junior, turned today to the New York artist colony of Greenwich Village.

New York police were asked to enter the search after it was reported the attractive 19-year-old student was interested in painting as a hobby and might have gone to Greenwich Village on an impulse.

The police theory that the girl left Bryn Mawr Friday of her own free will was heightened with the disclosure that she cashed a total of at least $180 in checks a few hours before her disappearance.

Maj. William Hoffman, commandant of the Belmont barracks of the State police, who is directing the hunt, said the girl apparently vanished aboard a train, bus or plane outward bound from Philadelphia.

Last Seen Friday

Miss Nauman, daughter of a prosperous Harrisburg attorney, was seen last Friday afternoon in the rest room of the suburban station in Philadelphia. A woman attendant said she carried two traveling bags and two coats. Upon leaving she discarded one of the coats.

Police yesterday contacted a Yale student at New Haven who was known to have dated Miss Nauman. He told police he had not seen or heard of her for some time.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Spencer Gilbert Nauman, told police at her Harrisburg home, that she knew of nothing troubling the girl. She described the disappearance as "incomprehensible."

The card game euchre probably got its name from the German juchs, meaning joke, which is changed to joker as the name of the extra card in the pack.

Lead Thieves Hit English Churches

LONDON — (INS) — Concern over the huge amount of lead stolen from church roofs in Britain prompted the British Council for Care of Churches to urge all parishes to get their lead roofs insured.

Much of the many thousands of dollars worth of lead stolen from churches in Britain contains a high proportion of silver, is worth over $300 a ton and is irreplacable.

In some country districts where lead roofed churches abound, special watch is kept for suspicious trucks containing ladders parked outside a church—although roof stripping is normally carried out at night.

First indication one vicar had that his church was minus its lead roof was when rain dripped down on him.

Old Age Tips - - Waist And Work

PHILADELPHIA.— (INS) —One of America's most famous athletes believes the best way to grow old gracefully is—don't lose your curiosity and watch your waistline.

The advice comes from 71-year-old T. Truxton Hare, whose waist is about as trim now as when he played guard for the University of Pennsylvania and was named All-American for four years beginning in 1897.

Hare, a member of the 1900 and 1904 Olympic track team, spoke at a recent panel of Geriatrics experts in Philadelphia.

"They often tell you of the perils of alcohol, but food is the big killer of older folks," Hare said.

"The important thing for people as they grow older is that they keep interested in things. When they can't continue with one activity they should get into another."

Recent statistics indicate that there are a million more women than men in the United States.

Local Designer Wins In Rodeo

In the Arizona State Rodeo parade, held in Phoenix, Ariz., March 17, 1950, a former New Castle woman designed the second prize winning float.

The float, that entered by the Phoenix Local of the American Federation of Musicians, was designed by Mrs. June Grant, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Foringer of Edgewood Acres.

The float featured eight musicians, each dressed in costumes to simulate different types of cactus in bloom.

Book Ban Backfire Burns Jap Police

TOKYO, INS) — Tokyo police, their faces red after an "obscenity" ban on the sales of a book by an American author backfired, have set up a committee to rule on what publications should be denied the public on morality grounds.

The committee will include, besides police officials, Japanese writers and scholars.

The body was created as a sequel to the lifting of a 10-day prohibition of the sale of the first volume of a two-part translation into Japanese of Norman Mailer's best selling war novel "The Naked and the Dead."

Branding the book "obscene," police seized 1,300 unsold copies they found in Tokyo book stores. The publishers said they had sold 60,000 copies in the six weeks the book had been available to the public before the police ban.

Police departments in other Japanese cities failed to follow Tokyo's example and the Japanese press vigorously condemned the ban.

Said the Mainichi, one of the leading national dailies:

"The banning of books offers a yardstick to measure the level of culture of a country. The question of who exercises such control also indicates how civilized a country is."

SUPER-ONION

DAVIS, Calif.—A new kind of onion, the Yellow Bermuda 986, yields 35 per cent more high-quality onions than ordinary Bermudas, reports the College of Agriculture here. The 986 also matures 10 to 14 days earlier and produces fewer culls. It was developed in a three-way experiment by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and the experiment station of the University of California.

The fastest escalator in the United States is in Rockefeller Center in New York City.

Argentine Women Key 1952 Voters

BUENOS AIRES — (INS) — Argentine housewives, battling against a 200 per cent rise in living costs in 18 months, may be a decisive factor in Argentine's 1952 presidential election. It will be the first time that Argentine women ever have voted in a national election.

There is no concrete data regarding the number of women who will vote in the forthcoming elections, but political observers predict that over two million will cast their ballots, about half a million less than the total number of male voters in the 1946 elections.

The Peronists party's women section — headed by President Peron's wif. Eva Duarte de Peron —already has started to campaign for members. Mrs. Peron herself is expected to lead the 1952 women's campaign by running for the National Senate.

Most prime commodities have skyrocketed in Argentina during the past year and a half. The housing problem is growing more acute by the day. Housewives face a permanent scarcity of one or another basic foodstuffs. Milk and bread now are scarce.

Early rain and a woman's tears are soon over—Czechoslovakian proverb.

Lattimore On Way Back To Deny Charges

ROME, March 30.—(INS)—Owen Lattimore, accused by Wisconsin Senator Joseph McCarthy of being the top Soviet agent in the United States, declared today that the charges were "bunk, eyewash and poppycock."

Lattimore, a professor of Johns Hopkins university now on a mission for the United Nations, added that he had not either "associated with or in any way endorsed" Communists or Red associations.

Lattimore is en route back to Washington to answer the charges.

He has been in Afghanistan on a U.N. mission.

He said:

"I will personally appear to exonerate myself.

"I cannot make a fuller statement now because I do not know exactly what has been said and who is saying it.

"However, I am ready to stand on my long record. I have nothing to hide."

The expert on Asia said he does not know Senator McCarthy personally. He added that he was unaware his wife had hired three attorneys for him who demanded McCarthy withdraw the allegations.

Lattimore explained that he could not say what action he will take on his arrival home until he is informed of the detailed charges.

Newport Classes To Present Program

Members of the Sunday School of the Newport Methodist church, working under the combined efforts of the Sunday school teachers, will present an Easter program to be held in the church Palm Sunday evening, April 2 at 7:30 o'clock.

The Beginners and Primary classes will present several recitations, exercises and songs to open the program. They will then join with the other classes to present a pageant and worship service entitled "The Christian Trial."

The theme of this Easter service is the "Quest for the Secret of Jesus' Power of Life, and how Man May Find Security and Peace of Mind." Its aim is to suggest the futility of seeking enduring happiness in "things."

Four parts make up the "Christian Trail." Part one is written especially for children so that they will make the quest more purposefully than man has thus far made it. Part two presents the idea that Jesus cannot die. His power endures. The understanding of this message is the object of the quest.

The third part states the need of taking time to ask, 'What meaneth this?'. The dedication and consecration makes up part four.

This program has been arranged so that the congregation will also have an active part by joining together to form the choir and sing the hymns with the Sunday school. Vocal solos will be given by Misses Beverly Veon and Nancy Jo Kennedy.

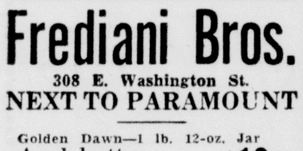

Rev. James Palmer is pastor of the Newport Methodist church.

Trinity Lutheran Will Have Program

Sacred music by the church choir will feature a program that will be offered in Trinity Lutheran church, South Ray street, Palm Sunday evening, April 2, at 7:30 o'clock. The singers will offer Lenten and Easter numbers, under the direction of Mrs. Otto E. Maki with Miss Sylvia Koski as accompanist. The ladies' chorus will also sing appropriate selections.

Miss Miriam Suosio, Miss Norma Karki, Harry Johnson, Miss Miriam Karki and William Halttunen will be among those taking part in the program. A sermonette will be given by Rev. Otto E. Maki, pastor.

Young Progressives Dance On April 8

Young Progressives held their regular meeting Tuseday with John Cagnetti in charge. Plans were completed for a dance to be held Saturday, April 8, in the Sons of Italy hall.

Co-chairmen for the event will be Johnny Cagnetti and Tommy DeLorenzo assisted by Jilda DePolis and Frances Capperino. Movies and ping-pong were diversions.

April 11 is the date of the next meeting.

Methodist Meetings Move To Downtown Church This Evening

Scene of the Methodist Preaching Mission will be changed this evening from the Epworth Methodist church, to the auditorium of the First Methodist church, North Jefferson street. The services were started on Monday evening in the east side church with Dr. David Wesley Soper of Beloit, Wis., as the speaker.

"Orthodox Hearts" will be the theme of this evening's address by Dr. Soper for the service which will get under way at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. James A. Gaiser, pastor of the church will preside over the meeting. Choir of the church, under the direction of Edwin Lewis, will provide special music during the service.

Last Night Service

The service last evening at Epworth church was in charge of the pastor, Rev. A. C. Howe. He called on Rev. Owen Shields of Croton church to read the Scripture lesson which was followed by the evening prayer offered by Rev. Paul Aley of Savannah Methodist church. Dr. Soper gave a highly inspirational address on "God At Work In History." He drew illutrations from early Biblican history as he related the incidents of the working of the Divine hand down the years.

The service this evening, Friday and Sunday evenings in First church will bring to a close the special effort of the Methodist churches of the New Castle district. A mass meeting planned for Sunday evening at 7:30 in the downtown church promised to attract a large audience.

Leaders Club Meets At First Methodist

Girl Scout Leaders club met Tuesday evening, March 28, at the First Methodist church, with Miss Alice Welther presiding. Following a short business meeting members were extended an invitation by the Oak street PTA to hear Dr. Blanche Carrier who will speak on "Problems of the Growing Child". The meeting will be held April 18 at the Oak street school.

Mrs. C. M. Booher, program chiarman, annonuced that there would be a senior conference for all seniors of the New Castle area on April 22. Mrs. D. B. Forsyth, executive director, led in a general discussion on the proper use of parliamentary law in the group as well as in the club.

Mrs. Forsyth continued the outdoor course with instructions in "fire-building and fire prevention".

The next regular meeting will be held on April 25 on the Greer building second floor.

COUNTRY PASTOR

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—A national survey of 1,300 rural congregations of the United Lutheran church has upset some recent notions about the country pastor. The pastor no longer reads his Bible at the kitchen table under an oil lamp, according to Rev. Karl S. Henry of Philadelphia. Rev. Henry, head of the division of survey and research of the Board of American Missions of the UCLA, said a survey revealed that more than 90 per cent of the rural ministers have electricity, study facilities and run their cars 11,000 miles annually.

One-fifth of the people of Argentina live in Buenos Aires.

Sharon Pastor Called To Pittsburgh Church

Rev. Dr. Clyde L. Myers of the Sharon U.P. church announced that he has accepted a call to the pulpit of the First United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh. He will begin his ministry there on May 14.

Dr. Myers, who was ordained in 1932, has been pastor of churches at Hickory and Greentree and in Buffalo, N. Y. He came to Sharon in 1943.

Vandalism Costs Three Boys $40

Three boys have been caught and have confessed to breaking windows in Rose avenue school Monday evening, it is announced by Robert L. Stewart, special school officer.

The boys, who have agreed to pay the damages amounting to $40.41, could give no reason for their acts, Mr. Stewart reports.

The boys are not pupils at Rose avenue, it is reported.

GOOD EQUIPMENT HELPS MAKE PRESSING EASY

With the proper pressing equipment, you will get better results and the job of pressing will be easier. The clothes you make or the garments already in the family wardrobe will benefit from a pressing job well done.

A tailor's cushion or ham is essential for pressing the curved parts of a garment, such as collar and shoulders. The cushion is ham shaped, about 15 inches long, 9 inches wide at one end, tapering to 3 inches at the other end. You can make a tailor's cushion, using these measurements plus an allowance for seams.

For the tailor's cushion use firmly woven muslin or canvas. Cut two of the oval shaped pieces, then sew together leaving one end open for filling. Fill with dry sawdust, packing it tightly. Join the edges of the opening with overhand stitches.

The cushion will need an outside cover. For this cut two pieces of muslin or one of muslin and one of wool. Stitch together leaving an opening large enough to slip the cover over the cushion. Sew the open edges together. You may remove and wash this cover when it becomes soiled. The wool side of the cushion serves the same purpose as a wool pressing cloth.

Another aid to a professional pressing job is a piece of broomstick about 18 inches long, padded and covered with muslin. When pressing seams it helps to keep the seam edges from showing on the right side of the garment.

For a sleeve pad or roll, fold together several thicknesses of newspaper or roll up a large magazine. Pad the roll with turkish toweling or other padding, then cover with muslin.

AS CHICKS GET LARGER, GIVE THEM MORE SPACE

Size of brooding quarters and floor space per chick, also the number of chicks in the brood, and the season of the year, have a direct bearing upon the kind of brooding job being done on poultry farms.

General 300 to 350 chicks can be comfortably started in a 10 by 12-foot brooder house, provided the chicks get outdoors when 3 to 4 weeks old. And if possible, remove cockerels to other quarters as soon as their sex can be determined (usually at 6 to 7 weeks of age).

Early, or cold weather, chicks which must be confined until they are 8 to 12 weeks of age, more floor space must be provided—or fewer chicks started in one brood. These chicks need an average of a half square foot each of floor space for the first 6 or 7 weeks. Then remove the cockerels, and until the pullets are 12 weeks old give each of them a square foot of floor space. After 12 weeks gradually increase the floor space per bird to 3½ to 4 square feet needed for laying quarters.

If sexed pullets are brooded, and none removed for broilers, increase floor space per bird must be provided as needed at regular intervals. Otherwise, growers run the risk of heavy financial losses from overcrowding.

SOOT ON ORNAMENTS CAN BE WASHED OFF

To remove smoke deposits which accumulate on ornamental plants about the home, spray with soapy, tepid water.

Accumulations of unburned oil and tar products, soot, or ashes have resulted in sulphur compounds accumulating on the plants. Brown spots which sometimes are found on evergreens may be due to this sulphur burning.

In large planted areas a meta-phosphate solution has proved satisfactory. Mix 2½ pounds of meta-phosphate crystals to 1 gallon of lukewarm water; add to this a bar of pure soap which has been dissolved in water. Stir this saturated solution thoroughly; then mix the entire material with 50 gallons of water.

Spray this meta-phosphate solution under pressure on both the under and upper surfaces of the evergreens. Allow the solution to remain for a half-hour; then wash off thoroughly with clear water (under pressure). This meta-phosphate solution removes the oil binder which holds the accumulation of sooty material to the plants. Smaller mixtures of this cleansing material can be made up in proportion.

Fungus Disease Hard On Scotch Pine Trees

HARRISBURG — Appearance in many Pennsylvania tree nurseries of a fungus disease that attacks Scotch pine trees, causing needles to turn brown and drop, is reported by the State Department of Agriculture.

Nursery inspectors of the Bureau of Plant Industry have been instructed to prohibit sales of Scotch pines from nurseries where the disease is present.

Caution to gather and burn needles from under infected trees has been issued as a measure for prevention of spread of the disease which apparently attacks only the Scotch variety of pine, officials said.

Farmers and home owners are urged to inspect Scotch pines that have dropped all needles in the past year or two. Bureau pathologists have identified the organism that causes the condition, a fungus known as Lophodermium pinasteri. When it attacks a tree the needles become yellow spotted, later turning reddish-yellow or brown and falling from the tree, frequently leaving in completely denuded of foliage.

Most sardines are caught in the dark of the moon.

Asks Truman To Veto Bill

Senator Urges Veto Of Natural Gas Bill

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTONN, March 30.—Sen. Douglas (D) Ill., asked President Truman today to veto the Kerr natural gas bill when it comes to the White House.

"Victory For Monopoly"

Douglas declared that the bill, which passed the Senate yesterday by a vote of 44 to 38, represents a "victory for monopoly" which will cost gas users an extra 100 million dollars a year.

He said he saw no chance of blocking the bill in the House, but that he was pinning his hopes on Mr. Truman.

The legislation, sponsored by Sen. Kerr (D) Okla., and a group of gas-State Senators, exempts the so-called "Independent" gas producers from regulation by the Federal Power Commission. The Independents are those producers who are not connected with the interstate pipelines.

Senate Commerce Chairman Johnson (D) Colo., a leading backer of the bill, agreed with Douglas that the House would probably approve it without trouble.

He declared, however, that he was confident that President Truman would sign it into law, although he had no "definite word" on the president's attitude.

Permit Rates To Climb

Douglas and other sponsors fought bitterly against the bill, declaring that it would permit gas rates to climb and monopoly to develop in the natural gas industry.

Its backers declared that it is a "fair and just" measure needed to keep the Federal Power Commission from invading a territory which Congress never intended it to enter.

Although the commission has not sought to regulate the Independent producers, there has been fear expressed that it might do so at any time.

As a concession to the opponents, Kerr permitted the bill to be amended before passage to direct the FPC to report to the president and Congress and recommend a remedy if "lack of effective competition" develops among the producing companies.

Douglas declared after the bill passed that he, too, planned to "see what gas rates do" as a result of the legislation.

Camp Lee Team Makes Visit Here

Over one hundred and fifty members of the Organized Reserve Corps assembled last night in the ORC Armory No. 13, Greer Bldg., to hear a lecture on the Organized Reserve program with particular emphasis placed on the Quartermaster Corps' part in this program.

Captain Bode Hughes and First Lieutenant Rubert C. Herrington, representing the Quartermaster school, Camp Lee, Virginia, gave an interesting and constructive talk on the advantages offered the Reservist by the QM chool, outlining the many benefits of the Reserve program and ways and means to obtain them.

Postpone Opening For Castle Hills

Owing to inclement weather the past two weeks, it has been deemed necessary to postpone the scheduled Saturday, April 1 opening of the Castle Hills golf course for several more days at least.

The condition of the ground has been such that heavy equipment could not be used. Several days of sunshine and warm weather may allow an opening toward the latter part of next week, it was announced by Greenskeeper George Arrow.

Former Judge Dies At Lisbon, Ohio

LISBON, O., March 30.—Lodge Riddle, 81, a former probate judge for 13 years and a practicing attorney for 53 years, died unexpectedly of a blood clot while sitting in the Columbiana county common pleas courtroom here Wednesday. He was waiting to confer with clients in an uncontested divorce case.

Despite his advanced age, he continued in law practice with his son, Lynn R. Riddle, now vacationing in Florida.

Besides his son, the widow, Louise, a daughter, Mrs. Helen Hime, a step-son, George Yost, and a step-daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Henderson, survive. Services will be held Saturday.

Baseball Bug Bites Japanese Gals Too

TOKYO, (INS) — The baseball bug has bitten Japan's women and plans are afoot to organize a petticoat ball league.

The latest addition to Japanese women's ball teams are the Tokyo "Pearls." The 20 member aggregation was handpicked from 150 applicants. The average age of the players is 17.

It began spring training at the well-known hot spring resort of Atami, 60 miles west of Tokyo, early this month.

Other women's teams sport such names as the "Bluebirds", "Red Sox," "Ohio" and 'Homer."

Classed as professionals, the women's teams will be featured on twin-bill games in this year's season. The girls will play a game before the men stage the day's main contest.

Shenango Auxiliary Plans For Dinner

Ladies auxiliary of the Shenango Township Volunteer Firemen will hold a meeting in the fire hall on Friday evening, March 31, at 8 o'clock.

An election of officers will feature the evening.

On Saturday evening, April 1, the ladies will sponsor a tureen supper for their members, firemen and families. This will be held at the East New Castle grange hall. This event will be followed by an April Fool's party.

VOTE SALE

SEOUL—(INS)—The forthcoming National Assembly election has given rise to a new "business" in Korea. According to the Seoul Daily, Dong a Ilbo—"vote sellers"—are promising interested election candidates 1,000 votes for 200,000 won. The brokers, says the Korean paper, have no limit to their services. "1,000 or 100,000 votes—we'll get them for you. Come on in and talk it over," the brokers are reported as saying. The republic's citizens will hold the second democratic election of their 4,000-year history on May 10, 1950.

Disabled Brothers Are Able Students

FULLERTON, Neb.—(INS)—A combination of modern science and rural schoolteaching has made it possible for three brothers, unable to leave their wheelchairs, to "attend" school and earn grades that average B-plus.

Richard and Robert Santin, 11-year-old twins, and their seven-year-old brother, Doug have been crippled since birth as the result of inherent muscular distrophy. They live on a farm near Fullerton with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Santin, Sr.

Mrs. Santin gave Richard and Robert an introduction to the R's for a few years, but last fall they were ready for the sixth grade and Doug was old enough for the first.

The Nebraska Society for Crippled Children supplied a communications set similar to an inter-office system which was connected between the Santin home and the small rural school which can be seen across the level fields from the boys' window.

A microphone is over the teacher's desk and everything going on in the one-room school can be heard by the boys, sitting in wheelchairs grouped around the speaker in their home. The teacher, Mrs. Kathleen Brand, calls on them when their turn comes to recite. They press a button and give their answers.

When recess comes, Robert, Richard and Doug can hear the shouts of the 12 other students of rural school 55 over their sensative intercom set.

Their six-year-old sister, Marilyn, a first-grader, romps with the rest.

TIPS FORBIDDEN

CHICAGO—(I N S)—Tipping of city employees tends to lower the prestige of public employment. According to the Civil Service Assembly, this was the conclusion of the Philadelphia Bureau of Municipal Research which investigated the problem recently. As a result of the bureau's study, Philadelphia's register of wills has forbidden his employees to seek or accept tips of any kind.

Abolish Tipping Is Urged On Congress By Waitress

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A waitress told Congress that she and her fellow food servers are taking in about seven and one-quarter million dollars in tips every day—but that they'd still like to see tipping abolished.

Imogene Wright, of Washington, put aside her tray and apron to give this and other information on dealing from off the arm to Senators who are trying to figure out how social security taxes are to be assessed against tips.

Lest the startling daily take give the impression that the nation's waiters and waitresses are quietly growing rich, Mrs. Wright hastened to explain that it has to be split three million ways.

Thus, she said, the average tip income of each server is just $2.75 a day.

In reality, she said, the tip income runs from as low as 50 cents a day in small, inexpensive restaurants, to four or five dollars a day in the swanky ones.

Favor Abolishing Tips

Regarding the obilition of tip ping, Mrs. Wright said:

"It is my observation that a majority of waitresses would like to see tipping abolished and a minimum wage substituted."

She said she felt qualified to speak on the subject since she interviewed many girls in restaurants in Washington, Boston and New York in preparing her book "Handbook For Waitresses."

Mrs. Wright said she also believed most waitresses were willing to pay taxes on their tips into the social security fund. But she said legislation now before the Senate—which would require each employee to report his or her tips—won't work.

She charged that drafters of the provision didn't believe it would work either, "because that would involve making over 3,000,000 people tell the truth.

She asserted that actually the provision was "a red herring" inspired by the internal revenue people in order to check up on tip-receivers for income tax purposes.

Mrs. Wright had three suggestions for making the tips taxable.

1. To report the European system of adding ten or 15 percent to the guest's check to be paid to the server as a tip.

2. To enact minimum wage laws which would remove the need for tips.

3. To set up a special social security system for workers "who must depend on tips for a living wage."

GAS LOCOMOTIVES

TOKYO—Locomotives operating on natural gas soon will be hauling trains in Japan's Boso peninsula, across Tokyo Bay west of the Japanese capital. The area is rich in natural gas fields and 38 of them already have been tapped. The conversion of gasoline and steam locomotives to operate with natural gas has been undertaken as an economy measure by the Japanese state-owned railways.

Fashion Correspondent Is En Route To Paris

NEW YORK, March 30—(INS)—Eleanor Boardman, one of the silent screen's most glamourous beauties, sailed Wednesday aboard the Ile de France to begin a new career— Paris fashion correspondent for International News Service and Harper's Bazar magazine.

The former Hollywood actress described her new assingment as "the most exciting that ever happened to me." Miss Boardman said she will begin reporting style trends observed in the Parisian salons with the showing of the May collections.

Saves Paychecks For Wife Buying

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — There is one newcomer to Hollywood who intends to spend all of his lucrative weekly pay checks toward buying more wives!

The actor is Kimursi Arap Kerem, a tall and very dignified native warrior whom Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio "discovered" in Africa during the filming of "King Solomon's Mines."

Kerem was brought to Hollywood for additional scenes for the film. During a press interview he made the amazing statement that every cent of his paycheck will go toward purchasing more brides.

Kerem already has two wives, but he believes that a man in his position, especialy considering that he has seen the world, and Hollywood, ought to have a lot more wives to impress his neighbors. And he's going to get them, regardless of what the Johnston office thinks.

PAID AS THEY DANCE

DECATUR, Ga. — The Decatur High School TNT club found a new way to insure regular attendance at a series of dancing lessons. The lessons actually are free; the teenagers pay 50 cents at the beginning of the course and a nickel is refunded on each attendance.

Red China Play Said To Be Moscow Wow

MOSCOW — (I N S) — The first Russian play on the Communist victory in China opened with critical acclaim in Moscow.

The play is the "Sampans of the Blue River," by Valery Pushkov.

It has a rather complex plot, involving a small Chinese city which finally is occupied by Communist guerrillas, and the struggles of a young girl whose employer angrily blinds her with a horsewhip.

The girl eventually is reunited with her long-lost brother, and the factory owner—a Japanese is punished.

The play was warmly received on opening night by both the audience and the critics.

It was produced by the Moscow Drama Theatre under the direction of Nicolai Okhlopkov, prominent Soviet film actor and director.

VICTORY

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Howard Keel finally gave in to his studio. A battle raged for two weeks whether Howard was or was not to shave his chest for his scenes as Esther Williams' native boy friend in "Pagan Love Song." Howard didn't want to apply the razor, but the studio won out.

Susquehanna Home Theme For New Song

HARRISBURG.—With an excellent view of the Susquehanna river at North Bend for an inspiration, Tony Gughiocello, a garage mechanic, has written a song entitled "Home by the Banks of the Susquehanna," reports the State Department of Commerce Vacation and Recreation bureau.

Tony's home, which overlooks the Susquehanna and its backdrop of mountains at North Bend, was the scene of the composition.

Final Report Of YW Drive

Total Of 1,558 Joined Y.W.C.A.

Around seventy-five workers in the annual membership ingathering of the YWCA met for the last regular report meeting today at noon with a grand total 1,558 members who have joined for the coming year.

According to the plan used by the YWCA for a number of years a captain is located in each church. This year a number of captains were secured in the county and today Mrs. Thomas C. Nelson, chairman of the ingathering, welcomed Mrs. Paul Shaw of Volant.

Purpose Of YWCA

Any woman or girl who joins the YWCA subscribes to its Christian purpose. The purose is, "To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committeed by our faith as Christians. In this endeavor we seek to understand Jesus, to share his love for all people, and to grow in the knowledge and love of God."

Leaders in the YWCA regard the p pose with sincere seriousness and try to develop its principles in the activities.

After reporting the workers adjourned to the Green Room on the third floor to enjoy a frozen food luncheon sponsored by the board of directors, with Mrs. Paul Bu in charge.

Following the luncheon Mrs. Thomas C. Nelson, chairman of the Ingathering, Mrs. J. Edward Everett, co-chairman, Mrs. Roy A. Long, president, met as they have been doing these past four weeks, to evaluate the ingathering and to make further plans.

Many former members are yet to be contacted and it is hoped that the goal of "On to 2000" will still be reached.

Attlee Says He Will Carry On

LONDON, March 30.—(INS)—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that his government will carry on despite its technical defeat last night—a defeat he attributed to an ambush master-minded by strategist Winston Churchill.

Attlee referred good-naturedly to the wartime prime minister's role in the government setback which came at a time when 30-odd Laborite members were absent without leave. The defeat was suffered on a minor motion to adjourn during the debate, which might have compelled resignation.

He compared the Conservative show of strength in Commons with a military maneuver worthy of Conservative Leader Churchill's authorship. Attlee said:

"Troops were kept more or less in ambush. There was no great strength in the front line but adequate transport had been provided and about 9:30 p. m. there was a great accession of motor transport into the palace yard.

But Attlee pointed out the Labor government did not consider the defeat a vote of censure and does not intend to resign to face new elections at this time.

B. Frank Smith Dies At Pittsburgh

B. Frank Smith of Pittsburgh, died suddenly at 2:45 p. m. in Pittsburgh on Wednesday. He was born February 6, 1881 in Marietta, Ohio. Surviving are his widow, Ida M. Biddle Smith; a brother, Ed. of Pittsburgh; two sisters, Ethel and Elliote Smith, Sullivan, Ohio. A number of relatives reside in this city.

The body has been removed to the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Myrtle Vellequette, 5 Breadiue street, Youngstown, where services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Burial will be in Belmont cemetery in Youngstown.

Flood Waters Are Falling

HARRISBURG, March 30.—(INS)—The federal-state flood forecasting service today said falling stag es are indicated for the next 48 hours in the entire Susquehanna and Juniata river districts.

"The snow melt crest has reached Harrisburg and the danger of flood has passed the threatened northern areas," a spokesman for the service said.

At Wilkes-Barre the swollen waters of the Susquehanna river nudged the 27 foot mark early today, five feet above flood stage.

No serious damage or inconvenience was reported as pumps went into action on both sides of the river. The dikes shored up the water with no danger of breaks reported.

A 26 foot crest was anticipated but the river continued to rise. Cold weather was expected to halt a further rise.

Receding flood waters allowed reopening of three sections of highways in northwestern counties. But swirling downstream waters forced closing of two others in the eastern portion.

Taken off detour were U. S. Route 19, a half-mile north of Cambridge Springs; U. S. Route 6 at the intersection with U. S. Route 19 in the Cambridge Springs vicinity in Crawford county and U. S. Route 6 between Mill Village and U. S. Route 19 in Erie county.

Closed off to traffic were U. S. Route 11 between Northumberland and Shamokin Dam in S der county and traffic Route 29 at Wapwallopen in Luzerne county.

Civil Service Exam For Policewoman

Civil service examination for the position of policewoman of the city of New Castle will be held at 7:30 p. m. April 19 ,in City Hall, according to a notice of Ralph A. Cooper, secretary of the civil service board for police.

Mrs. Catherine Dukes has been serving as policewoman for several years ,having been named temporarily to fill the position vacated when Mrs. Minnie P. McKibben retired on pension.

Aplication blanks may be procured by candidates at the office of the board secretary, Lawrence Savings & Trust company building.

All applicants for the position must be a least 25 years of age, and not over 40 years of age. The applicant must be at least 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 110 pounds or more, and must, in all other respects, comply with all rules of the board.

Veterans who served in the armed forces of the U. S. during any war in which the U. S. engaged, and who have an honorable discharge from such service, should consult the secretary of the board in event that she fails to meet the qualifications set forth herein, Cooper states in his notice.

Investigation Of Fatal Fire Being Started

HARRISBURG, March 30—(INS)—The State Welfare department today launched an investigation of the fire that swept the Belle-Vista sanitorium claiming the lives of nine patients.

State Welfare Secretary William C. Brown said several patients were reported to have died while strapped to a mechanical restraint which the department ordered removed in September, 1949.

Belle-Vista comes under the department's jurisdiction even though it is a private institution, Brown explained.

"However," Brown said, "in the matter of mechanical restraints wherein reports indicate some patients died in metal rings attached to concrete slabs, it should be noted that the Department of Welfare as far back as May 6, 1937, valled this to the attention of sanitorium authorities.

"On August 6, 1946, a letter was written to the superintendent of the sanitorium by Dr. Hilding Bengs, commissioner of mental health in Pennsylvania, asserting that he was 'gravely concerned' over the matter of mechanical restraints and recommended immediate removal of this type of restraint," Brown stated.

Requests for removal of the mechanical restraints were ignored so on September 21, 1949, Brown said, the Bureau of Mental Health ordered the ring removed within 30 days.

PHILADELPHIA—Two forward looking bandits held up the Bond hotel and escaped with $27. They also took a complete set of master keys to the hotel's 47 rooms.

Dr. French Speaks At Highland Church

Inspiring and challenging have been the sermons preached by Dr. Robert H. French at Highland United Presbyterian church this week. Dr. French, pastor of First U. P. church, Butler, has been using "Portraits of Jesus" as the week's general theme.

The out-of-town minister will speak on the subject "As Luke Saw Him" this eveing at 7:45 o'clock. He has chosen "A I Saw Him" for his topic for Friday evening at the same hour.

Wednesday evening Dr. French spoke on the theme "As John Saw Him," pointing out that John beheld Him as the divine Son of God, the giver of life and that this life is to be received through faith in His name.

Two Persons Hurt In Crash

Two persons were reported injured and are in the New Castle hospital today owing to a crash between two autos near Marone's garage along the Ellwood City-New Castle highway, shortly before noon. State police stated at 1:30 p. m. they had not yet obtained the names of the injured persons.

Sen. Wiley Also Urges Veto Of Kerr Bill

WASHINGTON, March 30. —(INS)—Sen. Wiley (R) Wis., joined Sen. Douglas (D) Ill., today in urging President Truman to veto the Kerr Bill which would exempt independent natural gas producers from federal regulation.

Wiley said that the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers estimates that the measure "can result in increased costs to consumers of more than 200 million dollars per year."

FIT IMPORTANT

BOSTON—The 9872 foot doctors in the United States would lose 75 per cent of their patients if people wore the right kind of shoes, according to the National Foot Health Council. Ninety-nine per cent of the people are born with perfect feet, the council said, but are started on the road to ruin by improper shoes.

Legion League Sponsors Meet

Plans Gotten Under Way For The Summer

Plans for the coming summer were discussed with team sponsors by the Junior Baseball committee of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, at a meeting held in the Legion Home, Wednesday evening presided over by Joe O'Leary junior baseball chairman.

Other committee members present were: Ernest Logan, William O'Leary, and Ted Clarke. Teams represented last evening at the initial meeting were: Croton A. C Walmo, Mahoningtown, St. Mary's and the Junior Herd. There are openings for five more teams. Chairman O'Leary states, and replies are anticipated from the New Castle Moose and New Castle Eagles.

Fields Okay

Enough fields have been secured to support ten teams, and it is hoped that there will be that many teams in the league this summer. These fields will be put in shape for play as soon as the weather becomes favorable, Chairman O'Leary states.

Suggestion was made at the meeting that City League teams sponsor teams as farm clubs for their league, to assist in developing these young players. It is the ambition of every boy on a junior league team to make the Post team which represents the city in district competition. The big leagues are now filled with players who have been developed and discovered in American Legion Junior Leagues throughout the country.

Gus Slovonsky offered to donate a cup to the league, which the officials can give to the championship team, or to the most valuable player.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Young Scranton Bank Teller Is Facing Charges

SCRANTON, Pa., March 30.—(INS)—A young Scranton bank teller accused by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of cashing $40,000 worth of phony checks for a confidence man who promised a quick return from "fixed" prize fights is in seclusion today.

The FBI announced that Theodore Richardson, 24, is under $5,000 bond posted with U. S. Commissioner Harry A. Kolb after pleading not guilty to the charge involving funds of Scranton's Third National bank. His retreat is known only to FBI agents.

Richardson's peculations came to light when his wife disclosed to bank officials his association with Bernard Schiowitz, 41, once questioned in connection with the Wyoming borough slaying last year of Frederick Schild, known in Philadelphia and Scranton gambling circles as "Big Foot O'Hara".

Schiowitz, alias Sixty Swartz, was charged by the FBI in a companion warrant with complicity.

Doughboys Form Grandpa's Club

PEORIA, Ill., (INS)—World War I veterans have at last admitted—at least in Peoria—that they are growing old.

A group of former war buddies in Peoria have formed an affiliate to Voiture 529, of the famous fun-making "40 hommes et des 8 chevaux." In English, that's 40 men and eight horses.

The new organization is named "Le cercle des grand peres," the granddaddies' club.

The 40 and eight is remembered at Legion conventions for floats depicting the close quarters they and the horses shared aboard French trains.

Apparently, the boys have slowed down and grandchildren have replaced mademoiselle from Armentiers as the main topic of conversation.

The organization is open to all 40 and eight members who can furnish proof that they are grandfathers.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

W. T. Rhodes, emphasizing the value of conciseness in his book, How to Build a Better Vocabulary, tells of the lady who visited a doctor, bared her arm, and announced, "Burn." The doctor suggested "Poultice." The next day she was back to report "I'm better." The doctor said "Continue treatment." On the third visit she said, "I'm cured. How much?" The doctor said, "Nothing."

Then, waxing really loquacious, he smiled, and told her, "You're the most sensib' ··tient I ever met."

A charity dinner in Hollywood was the occa ion of a brief clash of wits between Jack Benny and Eddie Cantor. Benny, introduced Cantor, qu ped, "You'll note that despite his age, there's not a gray hair on his head—tonight anyhow." Cantor parried, "Maybe my hair is black, maybe it's gray; at least, it's mine." Benny yelled back, "Listen Cantor, 'Ive got hair home I haven't even used yet."

May Not Extend Federal Rent Control Law

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A co-sponsor of the Federal Rent Control Act indicated today the law may be allowed to expire on June 30.

Rep. Spence (D-Ky. will confer "in a few days" with Housing Expediter Tighe Woods, who has been urging extension of the law.

The congressman said it would be "futile" to press for another extension unless there was a chance of obtaining its enactment. He favored continuing rent controls in "congested areas."

Spence, chairman of the House Banking and Currency committee, stated in an interview that he did not believe Congress would vote now to continue rent controls. He added:

"However, sentiment may change later. I plan to discuss the situation in a few days with Tighe Woods."

Spence indicated that if President Truman insisted upon making a fight for continued rent controls, he would sponsor the necessary legislation. He declared, however, that in any event it "will be a tough job" to obtain passage.

The administration leader said any further continuation would be for not more than one year and would undoubtedly be the last extension.

Spence explained that sentiment for continuation of federal rent controls was decreasing as more states took over administration of the law.

COMMENDATION

COLUMBIA, Mo.—(INS)—President Frederick A. Middlebush of the University of Missouri has received a personal letter of commendation from Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson for his service as a member of the Service Academy Board. Dr. Middlebush was appointed a member of the eight-man board last March by the late James Forrestal who was secretary of defense at that time. The board made a study concerning education needs of regular officers of the three services, with particular emphasis on the education of career officers before they are commissioned.

Funeral Service For Murder Victim Scheduled Today

PITTSBURGH, March 30—(INS)—A solemn requiem high mass will be sung today for Josephine Sanfilippo, who was shot and killed by a thug a few blocks from her home last Sunday night.

The victim will be laid to rest alongside her late fiance, Albert Casillo, who died just three days after the couple set the date for their wedding several years ago.

Meanwhile, the investigation of the girl's murder again turned to Pittsburgh's northside as police searched the area for a couple who first saw Miss Sanfilippo's body lying in the street.

Police said the couple disappeared without a trace before officers arrived on the scene.

Two Injured In Three-Car Crash

Two persons were injured in an accident in which three cars were involved six miles from the city limits on the New Castle-Ellwood City highway at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The injured:

Charles Alexander, 224 Wick avenue, New Castle; in Jameson Memorial hospital, concussion of the head.

Lawrence L. Hunter, occupant of Alexander's car, Portersville R. D. 2; concussion of the head; treated at Jameson Memorial hospital then discharged.

According to state police, Alexander was driving south, and at the crest of a hill he noticed a car parked on each side of the road.

His car went off the berm.

The car of Ernest Glasser rounded a curve and as it did, Alexanders' auto swerved back upon the road, striking Ernest Glasser's car.

The impact caused Ernest Glasser to lose control and his car struck that of George Glasser, a brother of Ernest.

All cars were damaged.

Lexington Pooch Mail Deliverer

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(INS)—"Bo" isn't a regulation mailman, in fact, he's what might be called a privileged type.

"Bo" is a dog, just any kind, and he's gone the mail route in Lexington for 11 years with Charles F. Bowman, Sr.

The two postal workers start out every day together. While Bowman sorts the mail in the substation, "Bo" sleeps on some mail sacks. Then when Bowman is ready to walk his route, the dog is at his heels.

Bowman has carried mail for 43 years. He said he intends to retire next year and, of course, so will "Bo."

"Bo" joined the mail service when he was about a year old. He was owned then by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Morgan. But "Bo" began to meet the mail man every day. Then he followed him the rest of the way on the route. Later, he became a fulfledged mailman by going to live at Bowman's house.

Although "Bo" has a life time pass on the buses in the city, he probably won't be eligible for a postman's pension. He can't write.

LAND VALUES

ITHACA, N. Y.—(INS)—Farm land values in New York State reached a peak last March and are now declining, Dr. C. A. Bratton extension economist at Cornell, announced recently. They declined 3 percent from July to November 1949, the values the latter month being 1 percent below those of November, 1948.

Folks Of Fame

This romantic figure of the silent picture days, Ramon Navarro, was born in Durango, Mexico, and educated in his native land. He payed on the stage five years in repertoire and stock, then went to the screen. "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Trifling Women," "Where the Pavement Ends," "Scaramouche" and "Ben Hur," which was made in Italy, were some of his pictures. He made a number of pictures under the direction of Rex Ingram, whose wife, Alice Terry, player opposite him on the Latin star. He retired from the screen for a number of years, and recently became very popular in England, playing in British stage and screen productions. Last year he returned to Hollywood, appearing in "Outriders."

Bonnie Prince Charlie was son of a king and grandson of another, but he never occupied a throne. His life was one long struggle to gain what he considered his rightful place as king of England. He was born in Rome, Italy, December 31, 1720, at his exiled father's court. He depended upon foreign help to reseat him on the throne. His idea was to get together a French fleet, sail to the British Isles to meet a pre-arranged Scottish rebellion force to attack England. He reached Paris, accompanied a French fleet to the English coast. It was met by a strong English force, storms arose, and the French fleet went home. Later, aided by various Scottish clans, he made a number of attempts to win his way to a throne. He was finally defeated, driven into hiding with a price on his head. He escaped to France disguised in women's attire. There he was coldly received, as the French were negotiating a treaty with England. He returned eventually to Rome, where he died January 30, 1788.

Three Men Sworn Into Naval Reserve In Month Of March

Three men were sworn into the Naval Reserve during the month of March, it as announced by Lt. Walter A. Kieler, commanding officer.

Sworn in were: Charles Fornaro, 920 Dewey avenue; Lawrence L. Vozar, 409 Haus street; Wilfred Paul Earl, R. D. 9.

Special recruiting team appears at the Post Office every Wednesday evening between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30. It is announced by Lt. Kieler.

A Needless Faint In Jail He Ain't

GEORGETOWN, O.—(INS)—It was just too much for the "All-American Jailbird" when the judge mentioned three years in prison.

George Simmons, whose record of 74 arrests covers 23 states, fell in a dead faint before he heard the happier part of the sentence.

Simmons, alias Johnny Johnson, hails from Onowa, Ia., and claims to be a mute. His hearing, however, apparently is perfect.

"All-American," as officials tag him, was brought into court at Georgetown, O., on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with phoney license tags.

Judge J. Walter Bagby heard the case and pronounced sentence, "from one to three years in Ohio State Penitentiary."

The defendant passed out cold.

Revived seconds later, Simmons was told the rest of the sentence. A five years probation providing he left the state.

"All-American" was only too happy to oblige.

Parachute Jumpers Beware Of Cactus

EL CENTRO, Cal., (INS)—A veteran of 200 parachute jumps from high speed aircraft claims that the only headache attendant to the chore is the problem of where to land.

The 300-jump veteran, Clarence E. Snow, 42, a member of a select few Navy airmen who risk their lives in checking safety equipment on new type aircraft.

Storm said that there is nothing to getting out of a plane—even the 400-mile-per-hour Douglas jet JD-1—because all you do is just press the button.

He said the headache comes next wondering if he will land on a cactus plant, in a high tree top or in the drink.

The parachutist just has to use his ingenuity, Storm said. If he lands in cactus—and there's a lot of it surrounding the Navy's parachute test center at El Centro—he just grins and bears it.

Some Suggestions On 'Met' Casting

NEW YORK, March 29.—(INS)—Now that the Metropolitan Opera has offered a contract in Technicolor to Danny Kaye to play the role of comic jailer in "Die Fledermaus," more such gladsome announcements are eagerly awaited by all true music lovers.

There are persistent rumors around town that Rudolf Bing, the Met's new director, is hoping to sign Rita Hayworth, Princess Aly Khan, to star in 'Escape From The Seraglio", and that he is toying with the idea of reviving "Girl of the Golden West" with Jane Russell in the role of the two-gun girl.

The Met has been staggering along from one financial crisis to another for almost two decades now, with nothing to offer the public but a bunch of sopranoes yippy-ki-yi-ing around the stage with spavined tenors (or baritones or bassos) in winded pursuit.

Hasn't Been Enough

This, obviously, hasn't been enough, and Mr. Bing, a smart cookie out of Edinburgh via Vienna, caught on within months of arriving on these shores. Broadway, Hollywood, the radio and television have been raiding opera for some time now. Mr. Bing has merely put the reverse English on the old switch.

When one thinks of the endless operatic possibilities in Hollywood alone, it seems incredible that this pulmotor has not been applied to the Met long since.

What's the point in signing up another soprano equipped to hit high "C' if she can't pull the C-notes into the box-office? But cast Ava Gardner and Frankie Sinatra in "La Traviata" and you've at least got box office.

So suppose Miss Gardner can't sing. What of it? Who cares? Does anyone go to the movies to hear Miss Gardner sing? Let Frankie make with the music of the younger Germont while Miss Gardner languishes as Violetta (La Dame Aux Camelias) and if they don't out-gross Mary Martin and Ezio Pinza in "South Pacific," then the Met is beyond hope.

The Met hasn't had a really first rate "Carmen" in a generation. Opera singers are too full of refinement in these days to do right by Bizet's gypsy baggage.

What "Carmen" and the Met need is Miss Mae West in the title role, and Humphrey Bogart as the toreador. Mr. Bogart is a great boy for throwing the bull ,and he might as well get paid for it at the Met.

And what about a break for the boy soprano, Morton Downey, in the role of Octavian, graf rofrando, in "Der Rosenkavalier?" mezzo sopranoes have been singing this role ever since Richard Strauss wrote it. Right now it is the Met property of Rise Stevens, who regularly gets into white satin breeches to sing the role.

Equal Rights—For Men

But Rise is a big girl now. Furthermore, there is a move on foot these days for equal rights—for men, I believe.

Probably the trouble with opera all along has been the singing and noise and music. What the Met needs is less caterwaulling and more Esther Williamses in Bikini bathing suits as Rhine Maidens.

What about sexy Rexy Harrison to play the Don Juan role in "Don Diovanni?" or maybe Mr. Bing could conduct a talent hunt in Hollywood with the Gables, Boyers, Grants, et al, competing with Rexy for the right to play this role always sung at the Met by Mr. Pinza before he went native in "South Pacific".

Ah, well, the possibilities are endless. It opens up great new vistas. It may even bring back vaudeville to Broadway.

The more one thinks of doing away with singers at the Met and resorting to plain type-casting, the more logical the whole project becomes. It has always been difficult to find a singer equipped by nature to do the dance of the seven veils in "Salome". The obvious thing to do is to cast Gypsy Rose Lee or Ann Corio as Salome and the heck with the singing.

List Colorado Area As Uranium Deposit

DENVER, March 30.—(INS)—A state report to the U. S. reclamation bureau listed the area south of Grand Junction, Colo., as the site of "the world's largest known deposit of uranium-bearing ore."

Urging speedy completion of the proposed Collbran irrigation and power project, the report noted that there are now 1,500 persons employed in the production and processing of uranium ores in the area.

Small Potato Is Sent To President

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—Rep. Heselton (R) Mass., sent President Truman another potato today.

This time it was "a small potato of poor quality."

Yesterday, it was "a cold potato."

Along with the potato the Congressman sent his usual daily telegram. This has been going on for weeks now as part of Heselton's campaign to get the President to solve the surplus food problem.

The latest telegram, sent to Key West, Fla., read:

"I am sending you a small potato of poor quality which is the only kind the American housewife is likely to receive if she has sufficient money to buy any potatoes. I hope this will be an additional reminder of the situation you have tolerated and are permitting to continue in violation of the best interests of the American people, either as taxpayers or consumers."

Farmers, Too, Favor One-Story Houses

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—Farmers, at least in the northeastern sections of the United States, go along with the current housing trend in wanting fewer stairs.

The department of agriculture has published results of a survey showing what researchers call a trend. The trend, they say, is toward one-story houses—no stairs, and no climbing.

The first marriage of an actress into the British peerage occurred in 1722, when opera singer Anastasia Robinson married the third Earl of Peterborough.

Testimony In Bednasek Case Near Conclusion

By PATRICIA BRONTE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

IOWA CITY, Ia., March 30.—Handsome Robert Bednasek returns today to the Iowa City witness stand where he wept repeatedly before a packed courtroom to describe the last hour of life of the beautiful blonde co-ed he loved.

Today's testimony by the 24-year-old University of Iowa student of abnormal psychology is exepcted to climax his 13-day trial for the death last December 11 of Margaret Ann "Gee Gee" Jackson.

Bednasek, son of an immigrant Bohemian shipping clerk, is accused of murdering the 20-year-old Burlington, Ia., co-ed because of jealousy.

Claim Accident

Defense counsel for the Cedar Rapids, Ia., youth claims the girl died accidently while the couple played a campus game of "black-out" in an off-campus rooming house. The game, popular among some university students, is played by pressing a person's sensitive throat arteries to produce fainting.

Bednasek mounted the stand confidently yesterday but soon broke as he testified of the 10-month campus romance that ended with "Gee Gee's death after a candlelit sea food dinner, a fraternity dance, and a "nightcap" in the defendant's lodging house.

The former merchant seaman who said he tried futilely to enlist in all the military services spent three hours in the witness chair under questioning by defense attorney Clair Hamilton.

Sobs At Exhibit

Bednasek seemed most affected when Hamilton handed him one of the girl's letters written to him last summer. For a moment he seemed unaware of his tense audience, then he sobbed and the tears spotted the pages of defense exhibit B.

Bednasek told of his childhood his war-time service in the southwest Pacific, his entrance at the university, and of meeting Miss Jackson through a mutual friend just before Christmas, 1948.

He recalled their first date February 6, 1949, and his "pinning" of her with his fraternity emblem on March 16. They dated daily the rest of that school year, meeting after class and spending the afternoons together. They arranged study schedules to share classes.

The defendant testified that he visited "Gee Gee" in Denver the summer of 1949 but denied testimony of a state witness that he went there to kill her.

He related how the affair was broken off, his fraternity pin mailed back to him, and how the romance resumed after each returned to school last fall. Again, Bednasek said, their love flourished until the couple was regarded as inseparable around the campus.

Plan To Protect Investors Interests Under 'Point Four'

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—Secretary of State Acheson told congress today that "we mean business" in plans to protect interests of American investors abroad under "Point Four" treaties.

Acheson's blunt statement came as the secretary testified before the senate foreign relations committee on the point four plan for aiding underdeveloped areas.

Sen. Wiley (R) Wis., challenged Acheson on whether the United States "really will stand back of" investors who take the risk of seizure and confiscation abroad.

Acheson pointed out that the United States will not intervene in affairs of foreign countries, but will get guarantees for American investments in treaties. He said:

'We mean business. We mean more business and safer business. We shall insist and they will insist that we live up to treaties".

Acheson said that the question before the United States now is whether "the fight for democracy will be going our way ten years from now".

CASH INCOME DROPS

HARRISBURG, March 30. — (INS) — Cash income from farm produce dropped nine percent during January compared with a similar month in 1949, the Agriculture department reported today.

January's cash receipts for Pennsylvania were estimated at $53,493,000 or $5,486,000 under January, 1949.

Preliminary national estimates on farm cash income shows a steady decline into February and March, the department added.

Fifteen County Representatives At TB Meeting

Fifteen persons from Lawrence county were guests at the annual dinner meeting of the Mahoning County Tuberculosis and Health association and the Mahoning County Tuberculosis and Health association and the Mahoning County Tuberculosis sanitorium at the Poland Methodist church Tuesday evening.

From Lawrence county were:

Miss Grace Ackerman, representative of the Pennsylvania state clinic; Mrs. F. J. Tomasson, representative of the Ellwood City Tuberculosis association; Mrs. Bessie Sloan, representative of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society board of directosr; Mrs. Jane M. Cochran, executive secretary of the county society; Miss Della Glenn, former tuberculosis worker.

Mrs. Freda Thompson, Mrs. Florence Cartwright, Miss Helen Wilson, Miss Margaret Zimmerly, Mrs. Thelma Boyd and Mrs. Norma Kline, representatives of the New Castle school district.

Mrs. Isabel Craig, Mrs. Bernice Baier, Mrs. Eleanor Birt and Miss Marie Douglas, Lawrence county school nurses.

Herr In Charge

After the dinner, the group moved to the main auditorium, where Whitney Herr, executive secretary of the Mahoning County Tuberculosis and Health association was in charge of the meeting.

Mr. Herr told of the progress made in Mahoning county during the past year inX-ray services. He explained the Mahoning plan, which has been used in Mahoning county for the past year and which has been copied in many other districts throughout the country.

This plan includes appointments for an X-ray of every person in the county once every year.

The Lawrence County society will attempt to conduct this kind of program in the future when more funds are available, Mrs. Cochran reports. Right now the county society is carrying out on the same ytpe of program on a smaller scale.

Dr. Harry A. Wilmer, Chicago, author of "Huber the Tuber," a story of his life in and after a stay in a tuberculosis sanitorium, was speaker for the program.

To hear Hank Greenberg tell it, the only problem confronting the Cleveland Indians is finding enough seats to accommodate all the people who will rush to the Lakefront Stadium for the 1950 world series.

First Government Girl Got Job 175 Years Ago

By MARTHA KEARNEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The government girl is an older institution in the United States than the Constitution although you'd never guess it to look at her.

The first government girl was Miss Mary K. Goddard who was named postmistress at Baltimore 175 years ago. When the Constitution was adopted in 1789 Miss Goddard had been in the federal service for 14 years.

Second G-Girl

The state of Maryland also accounts for the second G-girl, Mrs. Elizabeth Cresswell, who served as postmistress at Charlestown, Md., under the authority of the Continental Congress in 1786 and 1787.

The post office, a pioneer agency in hiring women, employed a few other government girls before 1800 although their names have long since been lost. Their performance, however, is recorded as higly satisfactory.

The Philadelphia mint stepped in at about that time and hired some women to do routine work. Within a few years the Bureau of Engraving and Printing entrusted certain types of light shop work to feminine hands.

Shortly after 1850 the patent office took on three women clerk-copyists to copy documents in their own home. They were the forerunners of the girl typists who now make up the backbone of women government workers.

Clara Barton, the famous organizer of nursing services during the Civil War, claimed for herself the distinction of being the first government girl ever to hold a full clerkship on the same salary terms as a man.

Miss Barton, who earned $1,400 a year, paid a substitute to hold down her patent office job during the war for fear she would be fired.

Early in 1860 the treasury hired a woman, Jennie Douglas, to cut and trim paper currency. This was, at that time, done by hand.

Shortly afterward, the dead letter office of the post office hired eight women along with a batch of new clerks. All but one of the women earned less than $700 a year although the men were paid $800.

In 1864 Congress made it legal "to employ females instead of any of the clerks hereinbefore designated, at an annual compensation not exceeding $600 a year, whenever it can be done consistently with the public service."

Passed New Law

In 1870 Congress passed a new law establishing the equal pay for equal work principle in the government service.

Fifteen years later, with many women on the job, the Civil Service commission reported that "women can successfully perform the duties of many of the subordinate places under government."

It was not until 1923 that all civil service examination were thrown open to women.

During the war the government employed more than a million women in all sorts of jobs. That number has now decreased by sixty percent but includes one ambassador, the treasurer of the United States, many judges and nine congresswomen.

The government girl, no matter how you look at it, has quite a past.

Woman Faces Charge Of Murder In Death Of Another Woman

BEDFORD, Va., March 30.—(INS)—A red-haired, chain-smoking woman, an ex-taxi driver, today faced a charge of murdering a young Veterans Administration secretary by attempting to perform an abortion on her.

County Attorney Bolling Lambeth said Dartha Louise Fulton, a 42-year-old divorcee, was arrested in a tourist camp near Bedford, Va., yesterday in the death of 24-year-old Alice Marie Taylor. The VA employe's body was found in a ditch near Blacksburg, Va., last Friday.

Lambeth said two persons arrested as material witnesses — Woodson Tuck and Mrs. Christine Jones—watched the abortion. Tuck is charged with being an accessory for allegedly driving the dead girl's body in the truck of his car over 80 miles of mountain roads to Blacksburg.

Lambeth said the three signed statements after they were questioned for four hours but he refused to release details "because they might prejudice the case."

Burn Treatment Progress Made

SALT LAKE CITY—(INS)—Researchers at the department of surgery, University of Utah medical school, report development of a method promising great advance in treating victims of severe burns.

Burn victims suffer most from loss of blood volume, either in loss of plasma through the injured surfaces or destruction of red blood cells by the heat. Dr. Philip B. Price, department head, and his workers believe they have improved the method of measuring just how much blood has been lost.

Through administration of transfushions of whole blood or plasma to burn victims has been on a more or less hit and miss basis, there was one method for arriving at the amount needed.

This was injection of certain dye into the blood stream, then drawing off some of the blood and measuring the degree of dilution of the dye by a photoelectric colorimeter.

However, this determination was rendered unreliable when blood was sustained with its own hemoglobin which had been released when red blood cells were destroyed by the heat.

The Utah research group found a way to remove the hemoglobin from the blood samples without removing the dye itself, thus making possible accurate measurement of just how much blood had been lost from the burn.

It is believed this will enable doctors to treat with more accuracy —without the danger of administering too much fluid or of failing to promote recovery with too little fluid.

GRANT TWO PERMITS

City bureau of building has granted a permit to Victor Sansone, 412 South Jefferson street to build a two story concrete block store at a cost of $2,500 and also a permit to James Travers to remodel a two story structure at 213 North Crawford avenue.

Creamery Butter Production Rises

HARRISBURG—Production of creamery butter in Pennsylvania during January, at 800,000 pounds, was 52 per cent higher than the same month last year, the State Department of Agriculture reports.

Federal-state surveys show national production for January, about 11 million pounds, was 8.8 per cent higher than in January 1949.

The January 1950 Pennsylvania creamery butter output was one per cent higher than the 790,000 pounds for December and national production was up 5.4 per cent. Pennsylvania production this January was 31 per cent higher than the 1944-48 average of 609,000 pounds of creamery butter.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief — help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

13 Million Tree Seedlings Sold For Reforesting

HARRISBURG. — Farmers and landowners have ordered more than 13,000,000 tree, shrub and vine seedlings from the Department of Forests and Waters, officials in the department revealed today.

These seedlings will help to reforest idle land acreage throughout the state.

More than 30,000,000 forest tree seedlings and shrub and vine stock seedlings will be sold to private individuals and landowners during the planting season of 1950, the department revealed.

"These 30,000,000 seedlings will reforest approximately 30,000 acres of land or more than 46 square miles," an official in the department pointed out.

Tree seedlings obtained from the department are to be used for eventual timber production only. Meanwhile, during their growth, they furnish much needed food and cover for wildlife, prevent soil erosion and raise the value of submarginal lands.

Wooded areas, too, raise the level of the underground water table and increase the supply of water available for human and industrial consumption, officials in the department said.

Treasury Department Sets $653,950,000 Goal For Bond Drive

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—The treasury department has set its sights on the sale of $653,950,000 in U. S. savings bonds during the government's forthcoming independence bond drive.

At the same time, treasury disclosed that the campaign symbol—the Liberty Bell—will be taken on a proxy tour of the nation to bring home the government's new selling slogan:

"Save for your own independence—buy U. S. savings bonds."

Forty-nine French-made replicas of the famous Philadelphia Liberty Bell will be distributed throughout the nation during the campaign starting May 15 and ending, significantly, on July 4.

These developments came as treasury bondsellers opened their first national independence drive conference to lay the groundwork for the drive.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, March 30.—Mercedes McCambridge, who won an Academy Award Oscar the first ie camera, hates clocks.

time she stepped in front of a mov-

The brown-eyed actress, whose real name is Patrick and who happened to be born on St. Pat's Day 35 years ago, declared today:

"Clocks are an evil invention to mankind. They serve only to emphasize how little time there is left.

"I hate clocks and I hate watches and I hate anything that keeps time. I won't have them around me."

Forty Minutes Late

Miss MacCambridge, who was 40 minutes late to the Academy awards last week when she won a coveted golden Oscar for her role in "All the King's Men", added:

"Who the heck cares what time it is, anyhow? If you really have to know the time all you have to do is ask somebody. And if you are home alone you can turn on the radio or use the telephone.

"Clocks are the cause of a lot of unnecessary high-pressure living.

"They cause neuroses. A person sits around all day and looks at at timepiece sand hears the tick on a watch or a clock and if he gets to thinking about it it means his life is washing away just that fast."

Christmas Present

Mercedes' eight-year-old son, John Lawrence—who happened to be born on Christmas Day—,has caught some of her defiance of the march of time.

"He speaks German, French and Italian better than he can spell English," the star said. "It's wonderful when just the two of us are together.

"We never know what time it is. We don't care, either. We eat when we're hungry and sleep when we're sleepy."

Described as the "greatest actress on radio", Miss McCambridge recently turned down a seven-year film contract.

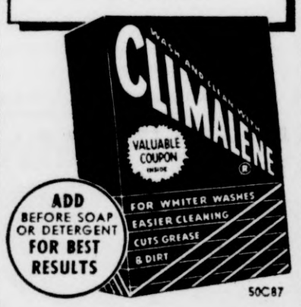

Runs by Clock

She currently is working in her second movie, "Lightning Strikes Twice", at Warner Brothers studio, but when that chore is finished she will hie back to New York for a series of radio plays.

Miss MacCambridge has learned during the last couple of months that Hollywood, like any big business ,must run by the clock, too.

"Getting to the set by nine o'clock in the morning turned out to be pretty important," she said. "I though for a minute I was going to have to buy a clock—and one with an alarm—but I made a deal with the milkman. He changed his route so tht he put the milk on the back stoop at exactly 6:45. Then he pushed the buzzer."

WHERE TO HOLD WEDDING BREAKFAST

"I live alone in a small apartment. I plan to be married soon and would like to hold my wedding breakfast at the home of m, maid-of-honor. Would it be quite correct for me to do this?"

Answer: Usually the wedding breakfast is held at the bride's own home but considering your circumstances it will be quite all right to have your breakfast at the home of your maid-of-honor.

Question: Should a male office manager (being the more important) have women employees introduced to him?

Answer: No. The same rule applies in business as in social life, thus: Miss Employe, this is Mr. Office Manager.

Question: I am to be maid of honor at a wedding and would like to know if, in addition to a wedding present, I should give the bride another gift for choosing me as her chief attendant.

Answer: You should give the bride only one gift—the customary wedding present. You might give her a shower or any other kind of party.

Question: When I visit a stranger who offers me a cocktainl, is it correct for me to refuse? I never drink anything alcoholic.

Answer: It is the privilege of anyone who does not drink alcohol to refuse a drink. "No thank you" should suffice. If any explanation is desired, you might reply, "I do not drink."

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

EYES FOR DOUGH GETS BIG 'NO'

NAGOYA, Japan, (INS)—Two Japanese, who each wanted to sell one of their eyes so they could go into business, have had their offers turned down.

Both wrote Dr. Yasushi Nakamura, who recently succeeded in grafting the eye of a dead man to a blind man.

One of the applicants said he was willing to sell his eye for 50,000 yen or $136. He said he wanted to set up a snack bar.

The other said he wanted 500,000 yen, the equivalent of $13,611. He wrote he needed the sum to rebuild his war-torn factory.

Dr. Nakamura, in rejecting the offers, said he could get all the eyes he needed from dead people.

Oak Tree Disease Threatening Trees

WOOSTER, O. — (INS) — "Aged in the wood" may eventually disappear from whisky labels unless a prevention or cure is found for Oak Wilt.

The seriousness of the disease, which theatens to spread to Ohio and ruin its oak trees, is stressed by Paul E. Tilford, executive secretary of the National Arborists Association at Wooster, O.

Oak Wilt spreads through the roots of adjoining trees, but little is known about how it spreads over great distances.

It resembles the Dutch Elm disease in symptoms and effect. Dying leaves at the tops of the trees or the tips of branches are the first indications of the disease.

However, no insect carriers of Oak Wilt have been found, as in the case of the Dutch Elm disease. And none of the chemicals used to control the latter is effective with Oak Wilt.

The disease spreads rapidly through stricken trees, with the exception of white oak, to the point where "now you have a tree and then it's gone," according to Tilford.

Immediate removal of diseased trees, to prevent neighboring trees from becoming infected, is the only weapons arborists have at present.

Oak kegs are essential in the aging of whiskey and manufacturers are paying premium prices today to obtain the needed wood.

Researchers, however, have offered no hope for an early solution to the problems posed by Oak Wilt.

Blueprint Greece Electric Program

ATHENS.—(INS)—The U.S. Economic Cooperation Administration has transmitted to the Government of Greece the report of Ebasco Services Inc., a New York engineering firm, blueprinting an over-all electric power program for Greece. The report, submitted at the request of the Greek government after a 12-month field survey in Greece by the American engineers, recommends a six-year construction program costing $212,360,000, which would more than treble Greece's electric power output.

It recommends the building of four new hydroelectric plants and a thermal-electric plant to convert Greek lignite into power; the conversion of a presently-existing oil burning plant to lignite; construction of a network of transmission and distribution lines covering almost the whole country, and other facilities.

The report cites Greece's backwardness in the development and use of electricity, and calls for "a modern integrated electric power system" to utilize the resources of the country. Less than one-fourth of the population uses electric current at present.

K.J.U. Class Has Meeting

Plans Made For Colonial Tea

At the home of Mrs. P. A. Gibson of West Madison avenue, the K.J.U. Bible class of Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, gathered on Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Paul Bender, president, in charge.

At the business session, plans were made for a Colonial Tea to be held in the Sunday school room in May. Mrs. Paul Bender and Mrs. Clifford Comstock will head the committee.

Various games were the evening pastime, under supervision of Mrs. Wade Daugherty.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, and associate hostesses Mrs. Herman Alexander and Mrs. H. W. Goad.

The next social meeting of the class will be Tuesday evening, April 25, with Miss Ethel Scheidemantle, 606 West Madison avenue, as hostess.

Firemen Auxiliary Meeting Postponed

Meeting of Auxiliary to the North Beaver Township Volunteer Fire Department, scheduled for Wednesday evening, April 5, has been postponed until further notice, on account of Holy Week services.

Friendship Circle At Crawford Home

At the home of Mrs. James A. Crawford of Mt. Jackson, members of the Friendship Circle of Mt. Jackson U.P. church were entertined on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Edward Bradley was co-hostess. Mrs. Bradley was leader of the devotional exercises.

Mrs. Wylie Craig was in charge of the business session. It was decided to contribute to the drapery fund and Easter flowers fund. Mrs. Arthur Searer read a number of current articles of interest.

Miss Mildred Bradley, high school student, who will be an oration contestant in the District Music and Forensic contest at Edinboro in April, gave her oration, "Wake Up, America".

A nice lunch was served in Easter motif by the hostess and co-hostess. Next meeting of the group, time and place to be announced later.

Girl Scout Leaders Will Meet Tonight

Instead of meeting Wednesday evening, as formerly announced, the girl scout leaders, troop committee, parents, and adults interested, will meet this evening, at 8 o'clock, in Mt. Jackson high school for a community meeting.

Girl Scouts Plan For Spring Program

Members of Girl Scout Troop 30 assembled on Wednesday afternoon, at Mt. Jackson high school, after sessions, with Mrs. Thomas W. Martin, Mrs. Elmer Shaffer and Mrs. Lester Hammond in charge.

The opening exercises were in charge of Janet Davis, followed by a short group singing period, directed by Mrs. Shaffer.

Janet Davis was in charge of business session. It was planned that the girls would work on a spring program, which included the games badge, and troop dramatics badge.

The "Busy Beavers" patrol discussed the coming spring program. The "Cyclops" continued work on housekeeping badge, under supervision of Mrs. Hammond.

Meeting closed with Friendship Circle and singing of "Taps".

Brownie Troop 41 Begins New Project

Mrs. Margaret Shogren and Miss Verna Mae Mack, leaders, were in charge of Brownie Troop 41, on Tuesday afternoon, when they gathered at Mt. Jackson high school.

Mrs. Shogren was in charge of opening exercises. A story was read by Miss Mack.

There was a review of old and new songs. Work was begun on a new project, the making of yarn pocketbooks.

Meeting closed with Friendship Circle and "Taps". Next meeting, Tuesday, April 4.

Opportunity Circle Will Meet Friday

Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the Opportunity Circle of Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, will assemble in the church parlor. Mrs. William Leicht and Mrs. Charles E. Dungan will be hostesses.

VALLEJO, Cal.—(INS)—There is nothing obscure about Vallejo's sense of humor. Jim Gormley, 22, who was fixing to marry soon, went to a stag party on a Saturday night. His friends overpowered him and welded a 50-pound ball and chain to his leg. It took a hack-saw—not a divorce—to get it off.

Passover At Tifereth Israel

Festival To Be Held Eight Days

Passover, one of the three major rejoicing festivals, is observed for eight days, beginning with the eve of the 14th day of Nisan, coinciding this year on Saturday evening, April 1, and continuing until Sunday evening, April 9.

The first two and the last two days are considered as full holidays, strict days of rest, while the intervening days are called Chol Hamoed or Intermediate Days. Passover commemorates the deliverance of Israel from Egyptian bondage about 34 centuries ago and in the liturgies it is called "the season of our liberation".

It is also called the festival of the unleavened bread and the holidal of spring. A passover seder is held in every home on the first two nights of the holidays. Seder means order, because the Scriptural readings and ceremonies are performed according to a set order or program.

Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will officiate and preach the sermonic discourses throughout the passover holidays, and Rev. Benjamin Miller, cantor, will chant the special liturgical selections and Scriptural readings. The religious service ushering in the Sabbath will be held Friday evening at 6:15 and Saturday morning at eight o'clock. The passover evening services will commence at seven p. m. Saturday and Sunday evenings, April 1 and 2, and at eight a. m. Sunday and Monday, April 2 and April 3.

Children attending the daily Hebrew school will have their passover vacation until Sunday, April 9, with regular sessions commencing again on Monday, April 9, at four p. m. Classes at the Sunday school department will be resumed Sunday, April 16, at 10:20 a. m.

HOT BOX CAUSES DELAY

J. H. McCann, West Clayton street, complained to city police early this morning that the Cherry street, P. R. R. crossing was blocked for 20 minutes. Police investigated and the conductor informed them the train could not be moved quicker because of a hot box on a car.

Meeting Monday At Castlewood

Castlewood Civic Association will meet in regular monthly session on Monday, April 3, at the East New Castle Grange hall.

The meeting will be called to order promptly at 8 o'clock and a large group of interested citizenry is expected to attend as a complete staff of officers will be elected at this meeting.

Since the formation of the civic association at Castlewood, with the assistance of Russall "Denny" Schill of Ellwood City, the local group is rapidly developing into one of the most progressive organizations of it's kind in this district. The public is invited.

S. 1-c Robinson Ends Leave Here

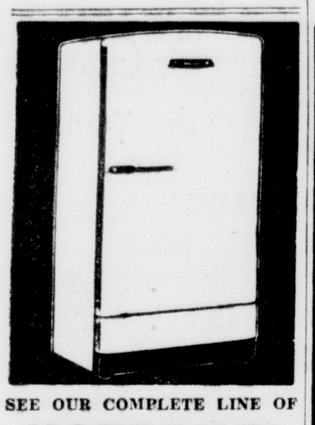

S. 1/c Charles W. Robinson, Jr., has returned to Norfolk, Va., after enjoying a 72-hour-leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Robinson, 111 Butler avenue. He just came back to this country after being on maneuvers near Puerto Rico.

Women's Division Has Kickoff Tea

Women's division of the Lawrence county unit of the American Cancer society's fund raising campaign had a tea in the Green Room of the YWCA Wednesday afternoon.

All of the wards of the city were represented at the affair, which marked the kickoff of the division drive, which is headed by Mrs. J. W. McIlwraith.

When your home is just a blueprint
THAT'S THE TIME TO PLAN ADEQUATE WIRING

If you're right in the middle of planning your new home, that's the time to plan an adequate electrical wiring system. Good wiring is essential because it gives you the best and most efficient use of your electric service. You and your electrical contractor can decide how much wiring you need. Do a thorough job and avoid costly wiring additions later on.

REMEMBER THESE A, B, C's
A. Adequate service entrance to bring plenty of electricity into your home.
B. Sufficient circuits of proper sized wire to prevent overloading.
C. Plenty of outlets for convenient use of appliances.

Road Building In State Will Be Discussed

HARRISBURG, March 30—(INS)—Complaints that urban and rural road construction is inadequate are before the State Highway Planning commission.

A hearing has been scheduled April 5 at Pittsburgh by the 11-member group, which is seeking opinions on which to base a long-range highway program for Pennsylvania.

Engineering Director William S. Canning, of the Keystone Automobile club, yesterday urged increased attention to urban road-building.

"Obviously we should concentrate our efforts in providing facilities for traffic in the areas where most traffic is to be found," he said.

A representative of the Pennsylvania Rural Letter Carriers association charged that current highway policy ignores improvements to the state's rural road system.

"Despite the heavy highway user need and demand on township roads, highway policy over the years has failed to produce any workable solution tending to either the immediate or future improvement of this type of highway," stated Secretary John W. Emeigh, of Roaring Springs.

More Rapid Rural Construction

"A more rapid construction program on our true rural roads is of vital importance to the continued growth of our state's prosperity," he added. "It would bring additional economic value which would run into millions of dollars annually."

A representative of the Pennsylvania Home Rule association decried "bureaucratic" state control over local highways.

Thomas S. Stephenson, of Altoona, submitted for the organization a "home rule road program" designed in part to "revoke the bureaucratic powers and controls of the state over local road officials elected by the people."

Among Stephenson's recommendations was a proposal that federal aid funds be divided on a population-mileage basis between the state and political subdivisions in order to assure use of money for improvement of all classes of highways.

Laws Antiquated

Pennsylvania Motor Federation Secretary-Manager Richard T. Maxwell, of Harrisburg, declared that present laws permitting municipalities to set themselves up as road-building agencies are "antiquated, illogical, and inefficient."

"Highway building should be invested in a unit that will be large enough and with sufficient finance to adequately supervise the job with the help of trained and experienced personnel," Maxwell said.

"The state unquestionably should assume the responsibility for traffice other than local," he pointed out. "On the other hand, local traffic should to a great degree be a local responsibility.

"There seems to be little reason to modernize a route through a city or town only to have it almost immediately become a parking area, reducing to a great extent its value as a travel artery."

The barely-perceptible tide in the Great Lakes is called a seiche and is partly due to atmospheric conditions.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

'I Want To Be Punished'

Few, if any, children say in so many words, "I want to be punished." Many however, act as though that is what they mean. They deliberately and openly do things which they know will bring down the wrath of parents or teachers.

Such behavior is hard for most of us to understand. But there are many possible reasons why a youngster asks for punishment. Two are among the most common.

Personal attention from those around him, and particularly from grownups, is craved by every child. If parents or teachers are so busy with their own concerns or shower attention on other children, the "neglected" one, finding that good behavior doesn't put him in the limelight, will do something that just can't be ignored, even though he knows it will bring punishment.

A second common reason arises out of a feeling of gilt. The youngster is used to being punished for "being bad." Once punished, he has "paid for" his wrongdoing. He feels better since he has wiped the slate clean. If he does something for which he has learned h should be punished and isn't, he may feel uneasy, upset and guilty. Such a feeling is far from pleasant. Consequently, often without realizing it he breaks a family rule, defies parental commands or otherwise puts himself in line for punishment. Once receiving it, the sense of gilt is sloughed away.

Does this make sense to you? If not, spend a little time trying to understand when next your youngster seems to be deliberately asking for punishment. You'll probably discover reasons like the above.

Pennsylvania Film Shown In California

HARRISBURG—Success of a recent meeting of the Pennsylvania society at San Bernardino, Calif., was largely due to the showing of a motion picture on the Keystone state and the display of the state flag, according to a recent letter from the society's secretary to the State Department of Commerce vacation and recreation bureau.

"Pennsylvania Pleasureland" was the title of the film which brought back many pleasant memories to the group of former Pennsylvania residents, the writer said. The film was produced by the Department of Commerce.

The society meets four times a year for either a basket picnic or a "pot luck" dinner, highlighted by speakers and entertainment.

OUTDOOR RAMBLES with N. R. CASILLO

FAIR AND WARMER

Everybody is affected by the weather. Your disposition this morning was probably influenced by it. Even the carefully laid plans of man to destroy himself must wait on the weather. It is recorded that if Hannibal had waited a day longer to cross the Alps his elephants would have been stalled in snow drifts. And can you imagine how a sudden downpour on Anthony and Cleopatra as they barged down the Nile might have affected the course of history or something.

Back in 1921 the snow in many of the ravines in the White Mountains of New Hampshire which usually disappears by late June, survived the entire summer. Immediately there was talk of a new ice age. That was a mere twenty-nine years ago and yet, scarcely more than two-weeks ago some eminent meteorologist knocked all ideas of a new glacier into a cocked hat by reporting that the unseasonal weather of the past winter was due to the fact that we are just now emerging from the last glacial age!

It is claimed that if one was situated high enough above the earth so as to be able to see a considerable segment of its surface, he would observe a literal procession of many different kinds of weather progressing in a regular, uninterrupted pattern. The truth of the matter is that weather is affected to a considerable degree by the topography of a region such as hills, large bodies of water, wooded areas, etc.; all good reasons, incidentally, why weather bureaus often fizzle out in their prognostications. Weather is not as cyclic as the experts may lead us to think, although they base their deductions on the average computed over a period envolving many years. Any deviations from this supposed pattern are attributed to purely local conditions.

Spring May Be Delayed

Many local forecasters are of the opinion that spring weather will be long delayed because of the mild January and February temperatures. You can rest assured that the prediction is merely a stab in the dark.

Here are some unusual observations resulting from unseasonal weather. They were made in widely separated areas in our county and prove nothing except that weather is inconsistent.

April 14, 1942. Water lily pads showing above water. This usually occurs a month or so later—April 14, 1943: Two inches of dry snow fell today. Temperature dropped to 22 degrees.—February 25, 1945: Temperature at noon, 50 degrees. Saw two robins in the backyard. Trailing arbutus near Neshannock Falls in bloom—March 13, 1945: 6:30 P. M., Temp. 57. Heard spring peepers, the earliest in my recollection.—March 16: 6:00 P. M. Pickerel frogs tuning up. 11:45 P. M. Backyard lawn strewn with night crawlers.—March 20: Catkins and leaves beginning to show on weeping willows. In 1943 this did not occur until April 22. Robin started nest under porch.—March 23: Mowed grass.—March 29: Three eggs in robin's nest. Three days later nest was deserted because of the persistent cold weather which followed.

And don't forget that this year crocuses were blooming in February. Also, during the first half of March the mercury scarcely climbed above the freezing point even in the day time. This much can be predicted: If reasonably cold temperatures prevail for another two or three weeks there will be no loss of fruit by late freezes, maybe. However, look at what happened on Monday last!

The film of palm oil on finished tin plate is so thin it can hardly be seen with the naked eye, yet it is five times thicker than the average coating of tin on steel.

History Students Conference May 4-5

HARRISBURG, March 30.—(INS)—History students from public and private schools throughout the commonwealth will meet in Harrisburg May 4-5 for the eighth annual state conference of junior historians, public instruction superintendent Francis B. Haas announced.

During the spring the history students will hold nine regional conferences on the conference title "Our Community Contribution to Pennsylvania."

All the conferences will be conducted by the students.

A DAZZLING CLEAN WASH WITHOUT RINSING

...THERE'S NOTHING LIKE TIDE!

"I'M THROUGH WITH RINSING—THANKS TO TIDE!"
SAYS MRS. GLORIA GUY, DETROIT, MICH.

"The grandest thing that ever happened to washday is Tide—without rinsing! The time it saves! Best of all—washes come out clean and dazzling white! So, why waste time rinsing when clothes come out like that without rinsing?"

Just wash—wring out—hang up!

WOMEN EVERYWHERE say it's the greatest thing that ever happened to washday! They love the time and trouble they save by skipping the rinsing! They love the way it cuts down water bills! But most of all they love the way their clothes come dazzling clean . . . so clean they can't tell the difference between a Tide wash that's been rinsed and one that hasn't.

YOU ALREADY KNOW how clean Tide gets your clothes with rinsing—cleaner than any other washing product known. Now try the same wonderful Tide without rinsing and compare the results. You'll be amazed to see how bright and clean your wash comes right from the wringer. Get Procter & Gamble's Tide today—every package of Tide on your dealer's shelf right now will give you a dazzling clean wash without rinsing!

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT WASHING WITHOUT RINSING

1. How can Tide get clothes clean without rinsing? Tide keeps the dirt suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater—clothes come from the wringer CLEAN, and dry as bacteria free as rinsed clothes.

2. Will clothes come white? Yes, dazzling white! Just see if you can tell the difference between a rinsed, and an unrinsed Tide-washed shirt!

3. How about ironing unrinsed clothes? When you use Tide without rinsing, clothes dry soft and fluffy . . . iron easily.

4. Is this method safe for fabrics? Yes, it is safe . . . skipping the rinsing and extra wringings actually saves wear and tear on clothes.

When you wash without rinsing—
NO OTHER WASHING PRODUCT KNOWN WILL GET CLOTHES CLEANER THAN TIDE

Young Nurse Turned Cattle Rustler To Meet Fund Demands

OAKLAND, Calif., March 30.—(INS)—An attractive young nurse told authorities today she turned cattle rustler to extricate herself from financial difficulties.

Twenty-three-year-old Mrs. Firth Band confessed, according to the Aameda county sheriff's office, that she had made two forays in the past two weeks on ranches in the vicinity of Hayward, near Oakland.

The prim nurse, who operates a small rest home with her mother, said she enlisted the aid of three 17-year-old Oakland youths in rustling five calves and four cows and whisking them away in a rented truck.

Her trio of alleged assistants—Robert J. Lefebre, Gordon Millward and Earl Brunold—were arrested yesterday shortly after Mrs. Band was taken into custody.

The cattle-rustling nurse's downfall resulted from a blunder she made in disposing of her booty. Deputy Sheriff Stanley Petersen uncovered the "trail" that led to Mrs. Band when he found the five stolen calves in a Hayward slaughterhouse. On the $135 bill of sale Mrs. Band had given her name and address.

MILLBURN

A degree team from Kennard grange initiated a class of 16 in the first and second degrees of the order at Millburn grange in a most impressive manner. The young people served a spaghetti lunch after the closing of grange.

The Pennsylvania Glad society held its spring meeting at Millburn grange hall on Saturday.

Several of the men of the community were guests of Mercer Rotary club at the Hotel Humes in Mercer on Thursday evening.

A group of friends remembered Mrs. Dickson Stewart on Saturday evening in surprise fashion in remembrance of her birthday. The guests brought ice cream and cake for refreshments and the evening was spent with cards.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ramsey and son were guests of Mrs. Ramsey's sister, Mrs. Thomas Campbell and family of the Mercer-Grove City road at a birthday dinner in Mrs. Ramsey's honor on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey were guests at the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Miller of New Wilmington last week.

Mrs. G. W. Masters and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Masters, and the latter's daughter Ruth of Mercer were in New Castle Saturday.

In The Open

A dead crow rolled in the murky surf edging the wind-tossed reservoir. His cherry clarion voice stilled forever, he sprawled awkwardly in death; a wretched bedraggled victim of the gunner who had brought him down. I could not help but wonder how many times this gallant bird, now reduced to sable-feathered refuse, had fought his courageous way against the fierce gales which often sweep the skies above the reservoir, boiling up the surface into seething whitecaps.

Many times have I stood there and watched these ebon fellows breast the challenging winds. Tossed alow and aloft, buffeted to this side and that, they come staggering bravely onward, sounding that familiar trumpet in the face of their raging antagonist. Perhaps this unlucky fellow had been so engaged, beating his way across to the shelter of the timberland, when the lethal scattergun had spoken from behind a willow clump and he had fallen those last few agonizing feet into oblivion.

I lifted him out of the water and was giving him decent burial beneath a stone when a lone herring gull came slowly down along the edge of the dam, flying low above the water. I had a sort of eerie feeling as the gull passed close by, as though the white shrouded ghost of that murdered crow had come back to haunt the neighborhood.

There are no fit words in the language to properly describe the effortless beauty of the gull in flight. I don't see them too often about these inland reservoirs, but have on different occasions noted the Caspian tern and the ring-billed gull, as well as the commoner herring gull. My visitor coursed the length of the reservoir and kept right on down the valley, his grayish "mantle" and black wing tip clearly visible through the glasses.

There were some newcomers among the hundreds of migrating wild ducks who were stopping over on the dams for a breather before continuing their journey northward. A whole entourage of the widgeons commonly known as baldpates had just arrived from the Chesapeake country. There's no mistaking this noisy fellow, with the white "scalp lock" running over the crown of his head.

Were Actively Feeding

The baldpates were actively feeding when I came along. They had spread out in thin ranks along the far edges of the dam, and at one point a dozen or so had scrambled out on the bank to rummage around in the weed growth. This duck is credited with marvelously swift flight, estimated at from one hundred to one hundred and twenty miles an hour.

There was a small contingent of the stately pintails cruising about the deeper waters, while another group dabbled in the shallows for a light lunch. Their long and slender necks and trim carriage give them the appearance of miniature swans, and the long pointed tail feathers are a sure field sign in any light. While the males dabbled head down in the shallow flats those long tails stood erect above the surface like so many bulrushes growing in the water.

A pair of hooded mergansers was having a great time in a quiet cove close by the roadside. The handsome male would dive, to be followed below decks immediately by his smaller consort. They must have enjoyed good hunting for they kept at it steadily for the quarter-hour I had them in the glasses.

Wears Fancy Easter Bonnet

The male merganser wears one of the fanciest Easter bonnets in the aquatic parade. He affects a handsome semicircular black crest, with a fan-shaped patch of white on each side of his greenish black head. His appearance is so striking that once seen, as he rows quickly to a safer distance, he can never be forgotten.

A single coot swam about lonesomely among the rafts of golden-eyes and canvasbacks that occupied the deeper waters. His white bill stood out plainly as he cruised among his larger companions.

The countryman notes with sudden surprise that another trout season is at hand. The odd assortment of weather during the past winter has occupied him elsewhere, and the trout tackle has yet to be given a final overhauling. The mountain streams are even now coursing in full-throated beauty among the hemlocks. Perhaps this year he'll get through the whole season without falling in once.

High School Pupils Get Surplus Foods

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(INS)—For two bits how would you like a lunch consisting of a big slice of roast beef, buttered beets, mashed potatoes, hot muffins and a half pint of milk?

The governments' surplus food program has made a lunch like this possible—but there's a catch.

The catch is that you have to be a high school or junior high school student in one of the very few schools that the department of agriculture is allowing to use surplus foods, purchased under the price support program.

Says Records On Lee Likely To Be Refused

By GLENN M. GREEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Immigration Commissioner Watson B. Miller warned a Senate committee today that Attorney General McGrath probably will refuse to furnish "confidential" records on Michael J. Lee, Far Eastern chief of the Commerce department.

His statement coincided with a demand by Sen. Bricker (R) Ohio, that the matter be referred to the full Senate Interstate Commerce committee for action. Bricker asserted:

Entitled To Records

"We are entitled to the complete records of this man."

Lee's loyalty and qualifications have been questioned by Sen. Malone (R) Nev., who charged that Lee was turned down for citizenship three times and falsified information in his application for employment.

Miller explained that the "confidential" records included investigations of Lee's application for citizenship, and communications with the courts regarding his "eligibility for citizenship". Miller said:

"They are not available unless the attorney general is willing to release them. I don't like to express an opinion but I doubt that he'd release them—under the general order relating to executive establishment files."

C. V. Whitney, undersecretary of Commerce, testified that the "security of the nation should come ahead of the security of the individual". But he said he was unfamiliar with the charges against Lee.

Lifelong Ambition Has Him Up In Air

FRESNO, Cal.—(INS)—Any day now, 65 year old Walter C. Wiles, Fresno rancher and carpenter, will realize the second of his top lifelong ambitions.

The first was realized recently when Wiles flew solo for the first time in his plane. He is believed to be one of the oldest citizens in the his 97-year-old mother, Mrs. Henrietta Wiles, for an airplane ride in his own plane.

Wiles said one of the main things that led to he desire to fly was wanting to get back and forth from his ranch in Auberry in the foothills northeast of Fresno.

Wiles is planning also to use his plane to "keep my family in fish," flying to the San Francisco bay area and into the mountains for deep sea and stream fishing.

Wiles does't see anything remarkable in his learning to fly at his age. He added:

"Any dope can learn to fly and keep at it as long as a person uses his head and follows the lessons of the instructor."

His instructor, Fred Mazzei, described Wiles as a "hot" pilot and quite able to take to the wild blue yonder.

ATOMIC SHIPS

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—George Killion, president of the American President Lines, announced recently that the company is "seriously considering" adding 'round-the-world atomic-powered ocean liners. The steamship company president said that if the cost, now prohibitive, for use of atomic energy to power its four proposed globe-circling liners can be brought within reach, the fast ships may be a possibility.

An auopsy was performed on the remains of John Paul Jones 113 years after his death.

Enjoy Music Says Leader

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Why understand music?—Just listen.

That's the advice given by Vladimir Golschmann, conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

The French-Born conductor frequently is approached by patrons who relate their enjoyment of a concert but add apologetically "but I know nothing about music."

Golschmann states these individuals do not disturb him.

He explains:

"Why do those who enjoy music worry so much about not understanding it? One does not try to explain why he loves flowers, and does one have to study architecture to admire a beautiful cathedral?

"To one who is sensitive to music, I can only say that of all arts it is the most unreal, the most subtle, the most fairy-tale like."

The nationally-known conductor even warns that there are dangers in seeking to "understand" too much.

He thinks the one important thing for the patron of the concert is a sensitivity to the "language of sounds."

Golschmann states:

"We musicians know too well that words will never explain the magic of our art—an art that is, before all, poetry, evasion, miracle."

British Mansions Opened To Public

ADLINGTON, CHESHIRE—(INS)—For 635 years there have been Leghs at Adlington in Cheshire.

Mrs. Cynthia Legh and her son still live in one wing of ancient Adlington Hall, but this year the country mansion will be opened to the public to help pay for its upkeep.

Because of high taxation and costs of maintenance the Legh family have been wondering how long they will be able to cling to the Hall.

Visitors this spring will be charged 25 cents a head and later the family plans to serve teas. The family has written a guide book to sell to visitors as well.

Oldest part of the house, the great hall, was begun in 1450. Its roof is supported by two living oak trees round which the hall was built.

There is an estate of some 3,500 acres, much of which is leased to small tenant farmers.

Mrs. Legh, 53, runs the home farm herself. She was formerly married to R. A. Broughton, but reverted to her maiden name some ten years ago.

35 Cent Fee

The Duke of Marlborough, kinsman of Winston Churchill, also is opening his place to the public for four days a week "to help towards its upkeep."

Only by allowing visitors to tour historic Blenheim Palace, Woodstock, for a fee can the father of the Marquis of Blandford, one of Princess Margaret's favorite escorts, maintain his home.

BIRTH CERTIFICATES

CHICAGO,—(INS)—More states are adopting the use of confidential birth registration in order to protect the privacy of children born out of wedlock or adopted. The American Public Welfare Association reports that currently 14 states are using the private birth record plan. Six other states report they anticipate putting the plan in effect this year.

Health Service And Social Work Grads To Be In Demand

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 30. — (INS) — College graduates should be able to draw down good jobs if their studies involved health service or social work.

That was the prospect outlined today by Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics in the U. S. Department of Labor.

Clague told a convention session of the Council of Guidance and Personnel Associations, however, that graduates face stiff competition for jobs in engineering, law, chemistry, journalism and personnel work.

He added:

"There will probably also be an oversupply of business administration graduates. A surplus of new graduates has already developed in the field of accounting."

Besides health and social workers, Clague said, psychologists with graduate training will find good opportunities in the next year or two.

Clague stated that in the teaching profession, there is "an acute shortage of personnel in the elementary schools and a growing oversupply at the high school level."

Alliance Church Names Officers

Department Reports Heard On Wednesday

A highly successful year in the annals of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, came to a conclusion Wednesday evening, with the annual meeting conducted in the church.

The meeting in charge of the pastor, Rev. George Jones, opened with a period of song and praise after which the reports of the various department heads were given. Progress was noted in every department of the work with plans made for even greater advancement during the coming months.

During the past 12 months, the sum of $16,027.83 has come in from every department, exclusive of the pastor's support which is made on a free-will offering basis. Of this amount, $7626.21 went to foreign and local missionary work. Giving increased over 1948-49 in the amount of $601.36. Percapita giving on funds handled by the missionary and general treasurers amounted to $46.55 per member.

Improvements Made

Various improvements on the church physical properties were made during the year. Much repair work went on at the church parsonage and a new organ was purchased for the church.

Concluding the meeting, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Elders Aaron Blews, Frank Fogarty, Joseph Jenkins, James Forsythe, D. Forsythe, Clarence Allison, Ezekial Haggerty; Deacons, Howard Covert, Glen Duncan, John Balint, Louis Bogle, Howard Gross; trustees (three years) Joseph Jenkins, Ezekial Haggerty, Harry Karns; church clerk, Woodson W. Collins; general treasurer, Ray Hilyard; missionary treasurer, Albert C. Martin; financial secretary, Paul R. Blews; pianist, Mrs. Joseph Jenkins; assistant pianist, Mrs. Louis Bogle; Sunday school superintendent, Woodson W. Collins; assistant, Louis Bogle; Young peoples president, Harry Karns; young peoples vice president, Linton Bupp; ushers, Samuel Deiger, Glen Duncan, Clarence Allison, Linton Bupp, Gerald Haggerty, Howard Covert, Paul Blews and Lester Grim.

No Holds Barred Challenge Made

TOKYO.—(INS)—A group of husky Japanese farm women, experts in jiu-jitsu, wants to show their big city sisters how to practice the strenuous sport.

Their 144 pound leader, Fusa Kan, contends that even Tokyo policewomen are "sissies" when it comes to jiu-jitsu.

To prove her point, 38-year-old Miss Kan has challenged the Tokyo policewomen's jiu-jitsu team to a "no-holds-barred" public encounter.

She flung down the gauntlet in a letter to Miss Kasako Moritomi, captain of the policewomen's team, saying she felt "only contempt" for the manner in which women practiced jiu-jitsu at Tokyo's famed Kodokan gymnasium.

Willing Competitor

Miss Kan wrote:

"I watched you practice and you looked to me like well-bred misses at a tea party."

She added that the 45 women in her group "played rougher" out of necessity and explained:

"We must be able to defend ourselves at all times on lonely mountain roads—and, believe me, we do it too."

Policewoman Moritomi, who holds a certificate of the fifth grade of proficiency in the tricky Japanese art of self-defense, says she will be glad to meet her country cousins in public competition.

But she doubts that she will be authorized to do so by her superiors. She said:

"We have never heard of this Kan team. And we wonder how good they are. But it makes my blood boil to be called 'a well bred miss'."

Blue prints required for one of the air force's big bombers could cover 125 football fields, according to an aircraft publication.

Taylor Township Auxiliary Meets

President Mrs. Thomas Freed Sr. presided at the Taylor Township Volunteer Firemen Auxiliary meeting held in the firehouse Wednesday evening, in West Pittsburg.

A $500 check was approved to be sent to the firemen to be used toward their truck and building fund. Reports were heard from Mrs. Thomas Freed Jr. and Mrs. Andy Tusaie.

Plans for social events were discussed, the first to be held on April 19, with Mrs. Joseph Schultz as chairman.

Cards and contests were featured and later the hostesses served a dainty lunch: Mrs. William Carvella, Mrs. Thomas Rome and Mary Allegro.

April 26 is the next meeting, hostesses to be: Mrs. Thomas Freed Sr., Mrs. Jack Camerot and Mrs. Mike Kessler.

This carrier participated in Operation Portrex, history's greatest peacetime mock amphibious airborne assault.

New Castle Pupils Enter Contest In Science At Geneva

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., March 30.—Fifteen students from New Castle high school are slated to participate in "the secondary school chemical contest" at Geneva on Saturday morning.

The contest is sponsored by the Pittsburgh area of the American Chemical society and is being offered at various centers in western Pennslyvania.

Approximately 2500 students will vie for the prizes of $100, $50 and $25 as well as for scholarship opportunities that present themselves as a result of the testing.

Dr. Philip L. Coon, head of the chemistry department at Geneva and contest chairman for this vicinity, has announced that entrants will meet in the science hall on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

An important question which also might determine the difference between success and failure of the Indians is: "Will the 'old pros'—Keltner, Boudreau, and Joe Gordon—hold out for another season?"

Famous Gorilla Has 22nd Birthday Today

CHICAGO, March 30.—(INS)—Bushman, Chic o's famed gorilla, observes his 22nd birthday anniversary today by meeting and eating with representatives of his vast public.

R. Marlin Perkins, director of the Lincoln Park Zoo where the giant ape has attracted more than three million visitors since he was first purchased about 20 years ago, expects about 200 of Bushman's human friends at the birthday party.

Neff Scores Insular Wage

State Senator Samuel Gunnett Neff appeared in Washington Monday and Tuesday at this week in opposition to a plan to fix the minimum wage rates for Puerto Rica at less than the present 75 cent minimum in the United States.

The hearing was held before a committee known as Industry Committee 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Division of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Would Make It 50 Cents

At present the average labor rate in Puerto Rica is 31 cents per hour. The commission would make the minimum rate 50 cents per hour. This particular hearing was on the plan of the Crane China Company to establish a plant in Puerto Rica and pay sub-standard wages. Along with no income tax, small property taxes, no corporation tax for ten years and no tariff into the United State such competion would be ruinous for the American vitrified china business, it is feared.

Senator Neff appeared both as an elected official and a representative of the United Steel Workers CIO. After pointing out that he represented workers of the Shenango Pottery, here as a CIO representative and the Mayer China employes of Beaver Falls as an elected official he scored the plan to set the minimum at 50 cents per hour.

"We sympathize with the plan of the federal government to aid our insular possessions, but we disagree heartily with such a wage minimum," said he.

"Such a wage minimum would result in economic distress in the United States, cause unemployment among thousands of pottery workers and we do not intend to stand idly by and see such a thing brought about. It is my conviction that the federal congress never intended such a minimum when the insular plan was considered."

Woodpeckers Help In Corn Borer Control

HARRISBURG — On a recent check-up of European corn borer damage, agents of the Bureau of Plant Industry, State Department of Agriculture, found that downy or hairy woodpeckers had cleaned up at least nine out of 10 borer worms in one Cumberland county sweet corn field where stalks had been left standing over winter.

Punching square or oblong holes in the corn stalk, woodpeckers readily extract and devour corn borer worms which now are about three-fourths inch in length, getting ready to enter the pupa stage in early May. Moths emerge in late June and the new crop of borers hatch in early July, state entomologists say.

Increased Acreage In Peas Reported

HARRISBURG — The growing importance of Pennsylvania in the production of vegetables for canning and freezing is reflected in announcement by the State Department of Agriculture that farmers in the areas where green peas are produced indicate a prospective increase of 14 per cent in their acreage this year over 1949.

Recent Federal-State surveys revealed that Pennsylvania pea growers plan to produce this crop for processing purposes on 14,000 acres this season. The estimated total compares with 12,300 acres planted in 1949 and the average of 13,920 acres for the 10-year period, 1939-48.

While the planned Pennsylvania green pea acreage for canning and freezing is 14 per cent higher than last year, indications are the growers of the United States as a whole will increase their acreage only one per cent over 1949. The estimates are based on reports received from processors in late February and early March in which they gave information on the acreage that they intend to contract and plant in 1950.

First record of an automobile race was from Paris to Rouen France, in 1894. The 75 miles was covered at a speed of about 15 miles an hour.

State To Produce More Spinach In '50

HARRISBURG — More spring spinach but less asparagus and cabbage will be grown for fresh markets this year on Pennsylvania farms than last, according to preliminary Federal-State surveys of commercial vegetable areas, the State Department of Agriculture announces.

The presently indicated acreage to be planted in Pennsylvania for the 1950 commercial spring spinach crop is estimated at 2,100 acres, 11 per cent above the acreage harvested in 1949, but four per cent less than the 10-year 1939-48 average. The decrease in late summer cabbage is expected to be small. The 1949 acreage was 5,800, the department said.

The 1950 Pennsylvania asparagus acreage is indicated to be 1,700 acres, 11 per cent less than harvested in 1949 and 25 per cent less than the 10-year average.

Deadlock On China Issue To Face Big Three

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 30.—Secretary of State Acheson's selection of Roving Ambassador Philip C. Jessup as top aide for the Big Three meeting on the cold war in London convinced U. N. officialdom today that the deadlock in China is slated for top consideration.

This viewpoint was underlined by Acheson's statement to Congress that southeast Asia is the chief danger spot of possible Communist aggression. However there also is speculation over whether American aid to the Nationalists on Formosa was broached in the closed session.

Support Futile

At Lake Success, the statement day that support for the Chinese by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt yester-Nationalists seems futile and the communication from Dr. Oswaldo Aranha in Brazil urging the recognition of Communist China by U. N. had even deeper effect. It added considerably to the mounting pressure for an early solution on the Chinese issue among the big powers.

U. N. officials are pushing hard for priority on the Big Three agenda for a modus vivendi solving the quarrel over China's representation on the grounds that relations between Russia and the west in the cold war pivot around this crucial question.

U. S. Position Same

Although British Foreign Secre-French Foreign Minister Schumantary Bevin and to a lesser extent are known to favor speedy action in settling the Chinese U. N. issue through compromise, U. S. sources told International News Service that the American position remains unchanged. It therefore is somewhat at odds with that of the other two powers.

Pressure for an extraordinary meeting of the Security Council, attended by the eleven foreign ministers whose nations are represntd, is mounting day by day. On that point, the U. S. source stressed that it is the American viewpoint that a meeting of the Security Council could be convoked for the purpose of resuming atomic energy control discussions without previously disposing of the Chinese issue.

Stepfather-To-Be Makes Plea That Gets Youth Freedom

NEW YORK, March 30.—(INS)—The courtroom eloquence of his stepfather-to-be—a lawyer who doesn't practice—opened a new life today for a youth convicted of burglary and car theft.

Martin Porreca, 21, who has been in Elmira Reformatory almost two years for a burglary, was up for sentencing on a petty larceny charge involving car theft.

Guy M. Bagar, president of the Even-Air Corp., made a novel plea to Judge Peter T. Farrell while the defendant's attractive blonde mother, Mrs. William Porreca, 40, sat quietly in the court.

Bagar said Porreca will be eligible for an Elmira parole next September. He pleaded that he will give him a good home and keep him under his personal influence because he intends to marry Mrs. Porreca in October.

Bagar said:

"This boy's mother is engaged to me—and that will be my life sentence".

Judge Farrell suspended sentence, paving the way for Porreca's parole.

Surplus Potatoes Distribution Friday To County Residents

Federal government surplus potatoes will be given to Lawrence county residents on state public assistance beginning Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

County Commission Joseph Gilmore announced today that the government has allotted one carload, about 36,000 pounds, of potatoes for Lawrence county disbursement. The potatoes are at the P. and L. E. station on the West Side.

Persons who wish to procure the potatoes must first get a slip from the DPA office on S. Croton avenue. Commissioner Gilmore said that no potatoes will be given out without the slip.

Disbursement will be on a first come, first served basis at the station.

John Adams, who died at 90, holds the longevity record for Presidents.

Forty And Eight To Have Meeting

Members of Lawrence county Voiture No. 81, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, will have its monthly meeting Tuesday evening, April 4, when the Voyageurs from Bessemer will be the hosts and will provide the entertainment for the evening.

Chef de Gare Don Crowl states that only three more members are needed to go over the top in this year's membership effort, and these are expected to be secured before Tuesday night's meeting.

Many observers at the A's training base insist that "Old Mike" Cochrane will deserve top credit should the Mackmen surprise and actually capture the American League pennant this season.

THREE OUT OF FOUR

Three of the first four hitters in the Middle Atlantic League in the 1947 season are on the rosters of major league baseball clubs this spring.

League leader Alex Garbowski and Mike Goliat, both with Vandergrift, are on the roster of the Philadelphia Phillies with Goliat almost certain to stick, probably as regular baseman.

Johnny Merson, second baseman with Uniontown in '47, is on the roster of the Pittsburgh Pirates. He played with New Orleans last summer and will probably be sent to either Indianapolis or New Orleans again this year.

The other member of the first four—Herman Kiel, also with with Vandergrift in 1947. Herman could clout the ball with the rest of them, but just couldn't get around fast enough and failed to go up the ladder as they did.

Kiel got into only 69 games that year and hit .393. He finished second to Garbowski, who hit .396, and ahead of Merson and Goliat, who hit .388 and .370 respectively.

Vincent Lamorella recently met Gene Gribble and Lou Zeigler at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. All three are former New Castle high football stars.

Vince participated in a track meet between the Army Plebes and the Princeton freshmen. Vince broadjumped 22-feet, 8-inches to take the event for Princeton.

On the same day, Gribble took first place in the varsity track meet between Penn State and Army in the same event.

Earl "Jugger" Girard, halfback on the Green Bay Packers pro football team, is trying for an infield berth with the Cleveland Indian's farm club with Dayton in the Class A Central League this year.

Jugger led the Wisconsin State League in batting last year with a .367 mark, and then moved to the Green Bay Packers as their leading passer. With Green Bay he completed 62 passes in 175 attempts for 881 yards.

He has received permission of the Cleveland organization to quit the diamond in time to start football training, but according to Eddie Stumpf, business director of the Cleveland Farm system, will have to give up the gridiron next year if he makes good with Dayton.

Warren Retains Riffle As Coach

WARREN, O., March 30.—(INS)—The Warren board of education today said that head football coach Chuck Riffle has been retained for another year.

Riffle, former Notre Dame and New York professional football star, had a team with a record of three wins, one tie and seven defeats during his first season at Warren last year.

Eight Teams Enter Y Cadet Tournament

Eight teams have already signed to enter the YMCA Cadet basketball tourney which will be conducted April 3, 4, 5 and 6.

The entry fee is five dollars and there is still room for a maximum of eight more teams, according to Harold Pears, Y physical director.

Teams must limit their squads to boys 16 or under. Only ten players will be allowed per squad and two lettermen per team.

Entry deadlines is Saturday, April 1.

Sammy Baugh has won the National pro passing title six of his 13 years in the league.

Joe Page In Fireman Role

Rookie Derricked For Vet Reliefer

(By International News Service)

One of the main reasons the Yankees upended the Red Sox last season was a left-handed fireman named Joe Page.

And to prove that the gay reliever hasn't lost his touch the world champions trotted him in trom the bullpen yesterday in the ninth inning. Lefty Joe set the Sox down one-two-three and the Yankees won the game, at Sarasota, Fla., 5 to 4, breaking a five game losing streak.

Two Run Homer

Rookie southpaw Eddie Ford served a two-run homer to Boston's Lou Stringer in the seventh. It was Ford's final appearance before joining the Yankees' Kansas City farm team.

The Philadelphia A's beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 9 to 8, in a ten inning game at Vero Beach. The winning run scored on San Chapman's single. A two-run homer by rookie Bob Morgan had sent the game into extra stanzas for the Brooks.

Kent Peterson and Harry Perkowski hurled three-hit ball as the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Braves, 3 to 1, in Bradenton for their seventh straight win.

The Phillies continued on their slugging way in St. Petersburg, pounding out a 10-to-2 victory over the Cardinals. They slapped three St. Louis pitchers for 15 hits, including five doubles and two triples.

Tigers Down Senators

Johnny Groth did some fancy stickwork in helping the Tigers down the Senators, 9 to 3 at Lakeland. The Bengal outfielder got five hits, including a triple. George Kell contributed an inside-the-park round-tripper.

Phil Cavaretta smacked a homer, a double and a single to pace the Chicago Cubs to a 5-to-3 win over the New York Giants at Phoenix, Ariz.

At Tucson, Ariz., the Cleveland Indians handed the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-to-6 defeat. It was Pittsburgh's sevent straight loss.

The St. Louis Brown topped the White Sox, 5 to 1, at Yuma, Ariz.

Ike Williams Is Suspended

Michigan Bars Lightweight Champ

DETROIT, March 30.—(INS)—The Michigan State Boxing Commission has suspended Lightweight Boxing Champion Ike Williams until he fulfills a contract to fight Lester Felton in Detroit.

Williams was scheduled to fight Felton at Olympia on March 8, but he withdrew on a claim he injured his hand in a previous bout. The bout was rescheduled for last night, but the Champ again withdrew on the grounds of illness.

In notifying Williams of his suspension, Boxing Commissioner National Boxing Association and Floyd Stevens also notified the the New York Boxing Commission.

Michigan has an agreement with both organizations and they usually recognize such suspensions. This can mean that Williams will be suspended in all but a few states until he fulfills his Detroit contract.

Southern Methodist's new head coach, Rusty Russell, coached Bobby Layne, Doak Walker, and DeWitt Coulter while they were in high school.

Homestead High To Battle Swoyersville For A Title

(By International News Service)

Swoyersville and Homestead high schools qualified last night to battle for the PIAA Class A Pennsylvania State Basketball crown at the Philadelphia Palestra next Saturday night.

Homestead captured the western region title at Pittsburgh's Pitt stadium by turning back Westinghouse, 39-34, before 2,800 fans.

Swoyersville won the eastern regional Class A championship by trouncing Haverford high before 4500 fans at The Palestra, 61-42.

Lally-Holup Stars

Ed Lally, of Homestead, scored 18 points to pace the Steelers to their 24th victory in 27 games. He tallied 10 points in the third period.

Forward John Holup starred for Swoyersville, an unbeaten Class B team which elected to take part in the Class A playoffs. John tossed in nine field goals and four fouls for 22 points.

Holup's brother, Joe, a center, tallied 16 points on seven field goals and two points.

Homestead Underdog

Pittsburgh, March 30.—(INS)—Armed with a season record of 24 victories in 27 starts and the western regional championship, Homestead high school's basketball team was Philadelphia-bound today for the PIAA Class A title showdown.

A party of 16, including 10 players, was scheduled to leave for the "City of Brotherly Love" early this afternoon. The first business upon arrival will be a session with two scouts who saw Swoyersville defeat Haverford, 61-42, in the eastern regional final at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra also last night.

Unbeaten Title Record

Chances are the oddsmen will make Homestead the underdog at Saturday's game for the state title. If they do, they will be ignoring the record books which say that Homestead never has lost a PIAA final.

The Steelers won over Nanti-Coke, 32-21 in 1924, and they beat Lower Merion, 29-24 in 1939.

Eagle Club Golfers Will Meet Friday

Any member of the Eagles Club who wishes to play golf this year is asked to report for a golf meeting at the club Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

L. Marino is chairman of the golf committee.

The club will enter a team in the City Golf League and also have a league of its own, it is announced.

RANGERS WIN 3-1

NEW YORK, March 30.—(INS)—An aggressive New York Ranger outfit skated recklessly to a 3 to 1 victory over the highly-favored Montreal Canadiens last night in the first game of their Stanley cup eliminations.

Bucknell Star Is Ineligible

LEWISBURG, Pa., March 30.—(INS)—Bucknell University announced today that Bison Halfback Jim Ostendarp, mentioned for 1949 Little All-American honors, has been declared ineligible for a third season of varsity intercollegiate football.

The ruling, reported Athletics Director A. E. Humphreys, was handed down by the eligibility committee of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference because the Baltimore, Md., athlete played one year of varsity football at Drexel during wartime before entering Bucknell.

Ostendarp, a junior, played at Drexel under "war-time modification of intercollegiate rulings" but the committee refused to reverse its decision. Bucknell asked for the clarification of Ostendarp's status.

Frank Fannin Named Shamrock Manager

Frank Fannin was named business manager of the East Side Shamrock softball team for the coming season at a meeting of the club last night.

Plans were also furthered for the coming season. A number of veteran players will be joined by some additions in hopes of fielding a strong team this season.

Cochrane, once manager of the pennant-winning Detroit Tigers, and Dykes, former Chicago White Sox pilot, place emphasis on running in their training agenda.

College Basketball Coaches Ask For Two-Minute Rule Elimination

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, March 30—College basketball's friendless two-minute rule was all set for burial today after suffering a very timely death.

The National Association of Basketball Coaches ended their three day session in New York last night and voted to liquidate the regulation and return to the 40-minute game.

It is now all up to the rules committee—which almost invariably follows suggestions made by the coaches—to decide on the matter. Under the two-minute rule, the team fouled in this period before the end of the game was given possession of the ball out of bounds after each foul shot, made or missed. Teams that were behind generally stayed that way.

Two Rule Changes

The coaches voted to return to the 1945 regulations with two modifications.

This would mean forty minutes of play under uniform regulations and uniform timing.

The two changes adopted were suggested by Vadal Peterson of Utah, newly-elected president of the organization. They are:

1—Substitutions are permitted only when the clock has been stopped, not simply when the ball is dead (such as after a basket or a ball goes out of bounds).

2—The clock is to be stopped on all jump balls.

Restrict Subs

The restriction on substitutions will prevent a stream of replacements sent in to stop the clock. And automatic stopping of the clock on jumps will prevent stalling.

The National Basketball Committee—which makes the rules—accepted every suggestion made by the coaches last year, but there have been occasions in the past where it has not. The two minute rule appears to be a dead duck in any case.

Steelers Schedule Baltimore Colts

PITTSBURGH, March 30—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Steelers will open their pro football exhibition campaign against the Baltimore Colts in Baltimore Aug. 13.

Steeler President Art Rooney made the announcement today in Pittsburgh.

The game originally was intended to raise $250,000—by selling 50,000 tickets at $5 each—to maintian the Baltiimore club's franchise. Although the plan has been discarded tickets still will sell at $5 each.

National league placekickers missed only 20 conversions in 339 attempts last season.

Kiner Reports Wrist Is Okay

TUCSON, Ariz., March 30.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates home run king Ralph Kiner indicated today that his injured right wrist was well on the mend and that he would try to start today's game against Cleveland Indians at Tucson.

Kiner told Pirate Manager Bill Meyer his wrist was much better after participating in a practice session yesterday before the first game of a series with the Indians in which the Buccos dropped a 7-6 decision.

It was the Pirates seventh straight defeat.

Chicago-New York Amateurs Deadlock

CHICAGO, March 30.—(INS)—Chicago's Golden Glovers, on the verge of deefat wtih only four bouts to go, fought their way back to their third consecutive draw wtih New York before 15,286 Chicago fans last night.

The Chicago boxers were trailing, 7-5, and had lost six straight matches when Elmer Lakatos, lightweight alternate from Cleveland, floored Ralph Peterson of Pleasantville, N. J., in the first 10 seconds. Peterson went the route but lost the decision.

Russia claims among other things to have another Jack Dempsey.

Attractive Home Schedule For High School Trackers

New Castle high track team is now working out at the stadium in preparation for one of the most ambitious track schedules faced by the locals in several years.

Included in the eight-meet program are two outstanding events slated for Taggart Stadium.

Five schools will participate in an invitational here Friday, May 5. Farrell, Butler, Ursuline, Ellwood and will compete against the Red and Black. On May 12, the WPIAL regional qualifying meet will be staged here. This attraction has been held annually in Ambridge but it was felt that facilities at Taggart Stadium offered more than Ambridge. Most of the schools in this section will have contestants entered. Qualifiers will go to the WPIAL meet at Cannonsburg, May 20.

Four Lettermen

Coaches Bill Klee and Austin Cowmeadow have a graduation-depleted squad working out at the stadium that includes only four lettermen. These are Chuck Abramski, discus; Robert Wynn, broad jump; Randall Mooney and Don Morrissey, distance men. None were first-place winners last season.

What the team lacks in quality is made up in quanity. Seventy boys were reporting indoors last week and now that operations have shifted to the stadium, 125 candidates are unlimbering daily. More are expected.

Coach Klee said today that he is pleased with the number of boys reporting but is afraid that the graduation toll was too much. He does not expect a strong contender this season.

A welcome improvement for the track team has been made at the stadium. The runners will be able to work out on a dry track in cases of inclement weather on the 125-yard straightway under the stadium. This change will permit the dash men to run practice races while other candidates can drill on starts and take wind sprints.

Open At Night

The opening meet of the season will be at Meadville on April 25, under the lights. The annual inter-class track meet has been tentatively scheduled for April 16-17.

The complete schedule is as follows:

April 25—at Meadville.
April 29—WPIAL Relays at Cannonsburg.
May 2—Ambridge.
May 5—Farrell, Butler, Ellwood, Ursuline, here.
May 10—at Struthers.
May 12—WPIAL Regionals—Taggart Stadium.
May 20—WPIAL Finals at Cannonsburg.
May 27—PIAA Finals—State College.

Gerson's Upset Elks In Y Tournament; Gus', Morella's And Ecclesians Victors

Gerson's pulled the biggest Y junior tournament upset to date with a 57-53 overtime win from the second seeded Elks last night in a thriller on the Y floor.

Gus', Morella's and Ecclesians also registered victories to qualify for the semi-finals of the tournament tonight.

Ecclesians tangle with Morella's at 7 and Gus' meet the Gerson's at 8.

Elks Trail

Elks trailed all the way in the final game of the evening and could not stop the sharpshooting of Lewis, Fioranti, Mike Carbone and and Duke Vitale. Tom Hutchison sank a pair of long loopers in the final minutes to put the Elks even and move the game into overtime. Carbone hit twice from the field in the extra three minutes to give Gerson's the win.

Both teams lost two men by personal fouls. The Elks, however, were poor from the free throw line and made only 13 of 29 attempts.

Morella's had an easy time piling it on DeCarbo's, 79-39. Don Reed made a fine display of shooting accuracy in racking up 29 points.

Ecclesians had a rough time disposing of Tempy's, 50-41, who kept getting back into the game after trailing 13 to 22 at halftime.

Opener Close

The opening game again proved ot be one of the best on the card. A goood Y Youngster team led all the way and had a two-point margin when the three-minute rule went into effect. Bill Emery and Plonka netted a fielder each in the closing minutes of the game for a Gus' victory, 33-32.

Ralph Manzo sparkled defensively and offensively for the losers.

Expect Rough Bouts Friday

Peeved Russian To Meet Schuh

Persons with weak hearts should carry smellin' salts with them Friday night, providing they enter The Arena, where the "Terrible Russian," Ivan Rasputin tackles Peter Schuh, in a 60 minutes to a decision exhibition or to one fall, because fans are craving to see excitement galore.

Rasputin is said to be smarting hot because Mike Hogan, referee, tossed a decision to Cyclone Anaya some weeks ago when the Russi an terror exasperated, refused to quit roughing Anaya.

Fast Preliminaries

Believing that he will be the object of Ivan's unkind "affection", Schuh is prepared for a rough night. Both are television performers, thence each is anxious to win.

Two 20 minutes exhibitions will be staged as follows:

Dennis Clary, alias Mr. California vs the Blue Phantom.

Tom Bradley vs Billy Venable.

Clary is formed as nicely as Atlas and could appropriately be termed the Adonis of the Mat profession.

Exciting Tag Match

The Blue Phantom, also a tele performer, is said to be good, while Venable, a rough "workman" will try to pin down popular Tom Bradley's shoulders.

The losers in the 20 minute exhibitions will pick their partners for the tag which is nothing more than a "rough and tumble fight".

Because of the anticipated overflow crowd, the doors will be opened for general admission ticket holders at 6:30 p.m., and it behooves all reserve seat holders to be in their chairs at 8:15 p. m., because the wrestlers will begin tossing each other about promptly at 8:30 p.m.

Wanish, Senesky Top Titan Opposition

Five basketball stars, who gave this year's successful Westminster college team plenty of trouble, have been nominated to the Westminster all-opponent squad. Thirteen letter winners of the Westminster team took part in the balloting.

Two high-scoring forwards, Bill Wanish, St. Francis (Pa.) and Paul Senesky, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, were unanimous choices for the all-opponent first five. Rounding out the quintet were center George Banchansky, St. Francis, and guards Bob Hurt, Seton Hall, and Dick Retherford, Baldwin-Wallace.

Second Team Choices

Second team honors were given to Chuck Karmarkovich, Waynesburg, Karl Kramer, Millersville State Teachers, Jack Riehl, Carnegie Tech, George McCrossin, Pitt, and Al Vlasic, Geneva.

Westminster Towering Titans finished season play two weeks ago with a record of 25 victories and five defeats.

Les Felton Wins Over Bobby Dykes

DETROIT, March 30.—(INS)—Lester Felton, 147, held a revenge victory over Bobby Dykes, 149, today, but was not bragging about it.

The Detroit welter and the rangy Fort Worth, Texas, scrapper met in a widely heralded rematch at Olympia last night. When the 10 rounds of boxing was over, Dykes had a bloody nose and Felton had an unanimous decision.

Mel Taube Resigns As Coach At Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 30.—(INS)—Mel Taube resigned Wednesday as head basketball coach at Purdue university.

Athletic Director Guy Mackey, in announcing the resignation of Taube, said a successor has not yet been named.

VFW Athletic Director Stanley E. Walker today reported Veterans of Foreign War posts throughout the state are being swamped with entry applications for next summer's teen-er league teams. The Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor the league for the first time this year for boys between the ages of 13 to 15.

Portland is the only Pacific Coast League team without a major league tie-up.

TED SPRINGER IS AT St. Petersburg, Fla.. where he has assimilate a lot of umpiring knowledge. He umpired games between the St. Louis Cards and Yanks, and St. Louis Cardinals' Reserves and St. Petersburg. . . . Answer to B.: Training of dogs ends April 1. . . . Petition from here to permit dogs to run fox all except 60 days, in a year, arrived at the Game Commission, Harrisburg, too late, for action, it is believed, locally. Fox hole up, except in the month of April. . . . Here & There was guilty of a misnomer when he recently typed an account of canine field trials. He said the canines were coon hounds, when in fact, they were beagles. Jack McGuirk, a Beagler called the error to our attention. . . . Fans who have wrestling reserved tickets should be in their seats in the Arena by 8:15 p. m. Friday. The doors will be opened at 6:30 p. m. to allow the rush of general admission ducat holders. . . . Safety Director R. I. Davis will have firemen throughout The Arena enforce the 'No Smoking' rule. . . . Here & There has been named on the general committee which is giving a testimonial dinner to Arch Ward, 25 years Sports Editor, Chicago Tribune, April 16. His contribution to competitive athletics are International Golden Gloves, All-Star Football Game, Charity Horse Racing, All-Star Baseball Game and All-Star Tournament. . . . Charlie Affif, cousin to Policeman Johnny James, will box Laurent Dauthille, French middleweight of Paris, in Pittsburgh, Monday night. . . . Mahoning Club sportsmen will meet at 7:30 p. m. tonight, to hear Fish and Game reports, according to Secretary V. E. Latshaw. . . . Geneva will meet Westminster in track, at home, April 19 and Slippery Rock, away from home, May 17.

A flying fisherman with more money than time learned ($25 later) that it is not legal to check set lines in Michigan from an airplane. One family is working within 25 feet of Main street, in Sheboygan, Mich. They have been swiping the city's aspen trees and floating them down the Sheboygan river, which parallels Main street. . . . Morgan Waters, who has been mentioned several times in this column, recently, passed away yesterday, following an operation in Las Vegas, Nev. He was reared here, went to Warren, O., later to California from whence he went to Las Vegas, Nev. . . . Abe Attel and Johnny Kilbane, vanquished and conquereor in a 1912 featherweight title fight, in California, shook hands in the ring in Cleveland, prior to the LaMotta defeat of Chuck Hunter. . . . Some local fans who witnessed the fight met Tom McMahon in Hollenden hotel before the fight. . . . Tommy Leach is ogling some heavyweights in view of putting Elkins Brothers in the ring with one of 'em. . . . Some boxers are doing a wrestlers' act. They're fighting each other in various cities. F'instance, Dave Marsh beat Sammy Mastrean in Youngstown, and now they're to do it all over again in Pittsburgh. . . . A London sportswriter is hoppin' mad at Joey Maxim for caricaturing the English, upon his return to the U. S., following his victory in London. "I've never noticed the monocle and tea habit around the ringside in Jack Solomon's gym, where Maxim gathered most of his impressions of London customs and customers," the writer, one Jack McGowran writer.

SPORT SHORTS

Probably no rookie in the major leagues is expected to carry the load which has been involuntarily dropped on Luke Easter's massive shoulders.

Michigan Statae, runner-up for team honors in 1949, and third-place San Jose State indicated today they will competet again in the National Collegiate boxing championships at Penn State March 30 to April 1.

Penn State's top-flight tumbler, Rudy Valentino, of Lancaster, Pa., also is a diver on the swimming team.

National high school basketball champions were decided from 1917 to 1933.

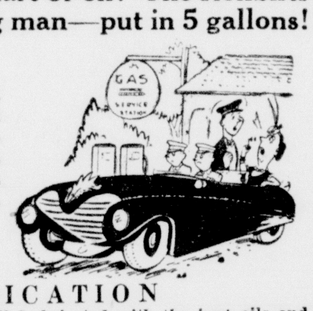

PICKED TWO BEST IN BASKETBALL

CLASPING their trophies, Nat Holman (left), coach of City College, N. Y., and Paul Arizin of Villanova, Pa., college, pose after being selected the outstanding coach and college basketball player of the year by the Philadelphia Basketball Writers' association. LEGAL NOTICES

BIDS—BALLOTS

Notice is hereby given that the County Commissioners invite sealed bids for the printing, furnishing, and delivering to the Court House in appropriate packages all the necessary ballots for the Primary Election to be held Tuesday, May 16, 1950, said bids to be submitted based on unit prices, units for each bid to be on the basis of 1,000 ballots, and when the same are printed. If there are fractions of 1,000, said fractions shall be paid for on a pro rata basis.

The ballots shall be in size and form essentially as used in the Primary Election of 1946. A complete copy of the ballots, together with the forms certified from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, may be examined in the office of the County Commissioners.

In making said bid the bidder shall understand and agree that said ballots shall be printed on the quality of paper, with the size and form of type, with the arrangement of the offices to be filled and the names of candidates for the same with the width and location of margins required by the laws of this Commonwealth, and in all things and in all respects comply with said laws.

Bidders must also understand that in two districts in the County of Lawrence there must be furnished Progressive ballots, which will be approximately five ballots in each of the two districts, as appearing by the registration now on file.

Also, the bidders must furnish the necessary ballots as required in all voting districts in Little Beaver Township and North Beaver Township on bonded indebtedness for school purposes, which will be on separate ballots.

In submitting his bid, the bidder is authorized to assume that the approximate number of ballots required will be as follows: for the Republican Party 34,105 official ballots and 6,405 official specimen ballots, also 3,310 official reserve ballots and 865 specimen reserve ballots, making an approximate total of Republican ballots of 44,685; for the Democratic Party, 15,560 official ballots and 2,988 official specimen ballots, also 1,620 official reserve ballots, and 555 specimen reserve ballots, making an approximate total of Democratic ballots of 20,723. The bidder must also understand that these figures are approximate only and that he will be required to furnish whatever ballots are necessary to be furnished.

When the time comes to actually print said ballots, proof of each form of ballot shall be submitted to the County Commissioners for approval thereof before the ballots shall be finally printed. The ballots are to be delivered to the office of the Chief Clerk of the County Commissioners at the Court House, New Castle, Pennsylvania, on or before Tuesday, May 9, 1950, as to all election district outside of the City of New Castle, and on Wednesday, May 10, 1950, as to all election districts within the City of New Castle.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a written contract for the printing, binding in books of appropriate size, furnishing, and delivering of said ballots and, to give the required bonds with surety to be approved by the County Commissioners.

Each bid shall be submitted in a sealed envelope, plainly marked "Primary Ballot Bid" and will be received by the Chief Clerk of the County Commissioners on or before Monday, April 10, 1950, at ten o'clock a.m., E.S.T., and not afterwards, at which time said bids will be opened publicly by the County Commissioners at their office. The Commissioners contemplate awarding the contract to the lowest and best bidder. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for $500.00, payable to the County Treasurer of Lawrence County to be forfeited to the County to the extent that the County suffers loss by reason of the successful bidder not signing the contract or giving the required bonds within 5 days after the contract is awarded to him.

The County Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and/or all bids.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, March 30.—(INS)—"Undressed umbrellas" with a wardrobe of quick-change covers will soon make it possible for a lady to match her parasol to her other paraphernalia.

Herman Eichenbaum, rainwear designer, today introduced a 16-spoke umbrella with as many as 50 styles and shades of covers.

Each cover can be slipped on the frame in one minute, by hooking it over the tips of the ribs. Covers come in transparent vinylite at about $1, hand-painted silk at about $10, and checks, plaids and solid silks at prices in-between.

Eichenbaum said his Jiffy Bumbershoot will make it possible for a woman to be umbrella fashion-wise for the first time. Usually she carries her brown umbrella with her black outfit and shrugs her shoulders at the luxury of investing in another more suitable model.

Now, in one versatile investment," he pointed out, "a lady is prepared for any color scheme, any mood.

SUMMER WORK

COLUMBIA, Mo. — (INS) — The University of Missouri College of Agriculture will again offer a special four-week course this summer for extension workers and teachers in agriculture and home economics. The session, June 12 to July 8, will offer four hours credit which may be applied toward a master's degree. Although courses offered are in graduate work, undergraduates may enroll if they have had the prerequisite courses.

Whipping posts were still in use in Delaware and Maryland during the later 1920s.
